ESTABLISHED 1846. NEWPORT, R. I., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS.

The Procession's Started

The Refrigerator car heads the line this year—Unloaded today and in a snow storm, too. Seems sort of queer doesn't it; but it only shows how far ahead we're all the time planning for you. Bought them last fall before the price advanced—nothing to us, but a big saving to you. That's our mission, to serve you better than others can.

Here's a Pretty Lot of Parlor Chairs

One of our rewards for constant watchfulness. Maker makes mission instead of mahogany now. Had some mahogany on hand at close of last season. We named a price, he took it—you get the chairs at 60 per cent of their real value. There is not a tremendous lot of them, but they're tremendously big values. It's only an instance. Get into the habit of getting curious about our doings—you'll find it more profitable than you'd dare guess.

New French Ministry Outlines Its Policy.

PARIS, March 14.—The new ministry presented itself to the Chamber of Deputies today and outlined its policy as follows:

"The government intends to carry out the church and state separation law with inflexible firmness and establish the responsibility for resistance to the taking of inventories.

"Concerning Morocco we intend to follow the policy of the preceding ministries, hoping that the equity and dig-

D LEGATES CANNOT SOLVE DEADLOCK

French and Germans Bound by Instructions.

Necessary for the Governments to Intervene.

ALGECIRAS, Spain, March 14.—The Moroccan conference has reached a peculiar stage. It is completely helpless to solve the deadlock which has arisen over the remaining details of the police and bank questions. The sessions are temporarily suspended, without knowing when they will be resumed. The French and German delegates are bound by their instructions, and therefore are unable to make further concessions, and the delegates not having judicial or legislative powers cannot settle the differences by a majority. Therefore the neutral delegates, who have heretofore sought to secure an agreement between the parties which the conference could unanimously confirm, now recognize that if the conference is left to itself it is incapable of getting out of the present difficulty, and that therefore it remains for the governments themselves to intervene for the purpose of reaching an agreement.

WILL YIELD NO FURTHER.

Berlin Believes Critical Period Has Been Reached at Algeciras.

BERLIN, March 14.—It is believed here that a critical period has been reached by the delegates at the Algeciras conference. The German government through diplomatic channels is expressing to the powers not directly concerned in the controversy its determination to yield no further. Germany depends to some extent on the advice of the neutral powers to persuade France to accept the irreducible minimum contained in the Austrian proposals, although the precise functions of the international inspectorship will be subject to regulations yet to be agreed upon.

King Edward, it is asserted here, is exerting his personal influence with the French statesmen in an effort to induce them to be conciliatory.

IN SUPPORT OF FOSTER BILL.

Secretary of American Asiatic Association Before House Committee.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—John Foord, secretary of the American Asiatic Association, and representatives of commercial interests in prominent cities of the United States appeared before the House committee on foreign affairs in support of the Foster bill to amend the Chinese exclusion act in such a manner that high-class Chinese may be admitted with less inconvenience.

The American Asiatic Association, said Mr. Foord, is deeply interested in the proposed modification of the exclusion law because of the importance to American commercial interests of China's trade.

Among the representatives of the American Asiatic Association at the hearing were: Gustav H. Schwab and Isidor Straus, representing the chamber of commerce of New York; Charles S. Hamlin, representing the Boston chamber of commerce, and Samuel B. Capen, representing the American Board of Foreign Missions.

D. A. Tompkins of Charlotte, N. C., representing the National Association of Manufacturers, said his association had no desire to admit Chinese coolies. In response to questions as to the effect of the Chinese boycott on the machinery and cotton trade in which he is interested, Mr. Tompkins said the effect has been very injurious and threatened to grow if conditions are not relieved at once.

REGARDING MOUNT DAJO FIGHT.

Senate Asks for Copies of all Reports and Communications.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The Senate today passed a bill authorizing Rear Admiral C. H. Davis, U. S. N., to accept gifts tendered him by the British and Russian governments.

On motion of Mr. Culberson, the following resolution was adopted:

"That the Secretary of War is hereby directed to send to the Senate copies of all reports and other communications between the War Department and any officials in the Philippine islands respecting the recent attack by troops of the United States on Mount Dajo."

The resolution was accepted without comment or division.

Mr. Warren spoke on the bill extending from 28 to 36 hours the time during which live stock in transit on railroad trains may be confined without charge, saying that the measure is in the interest of humanitarianism and should be passed.

The bill was reported by the committee on agriculture, and a number of Senators made objection that it should have been considered by the committee on interstate commerce. After discussion of the measure by Messrs. Elkins, Tillman, Aldrich, Cullom, Lodge, Heyburn, Gallinger and Spooner the bill was laid aside.

Mr. Rayner then addressed the Senate in support of the railroad rate bill.

PLOT TO KILL DR. PARKHURST.

Man Hired to Club New York Clergyman at First Opportunity.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The report of an alleged plot to kill Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst was made public today. It is understood that the district attorney's office was prepared to summon several witnesses in connection with this plot, which is said to have been originated because of a raid made upon a disorderly house by agents of the Parkhurst Society some time ago. District Attorney Jerome when asked about this report today refused to discuss it. Police Magistrate Wahle said that Assistant District Attorney Hart yesterday obtained from him several blank subpoenas, which he added might have been for use in uncovering the alleged plot. According to the report a man has been hired to club Dr. Parkhurst at the first opportunity presenting itself. Dr. Parkhurst today refused either to confirm or deny the report.

ONLY ROUTINE BUSINESS.

Legislative Session in Marked Contrast to Recent Excitement.

(Special despatch to the News.)

PROVIDENCE, March 14.—The General Assembly was occupied only with routine business today, in marked contrast to the excitement of the past few legislative days.

In the senate a large number of bills were taken from the calendar and passed, including the act allowing the removal of town sergeants for cause, the one providing for uniformity of probate fees and the one fixing fees for jailers. The last-named two were passed in concurrence.

The finance committee reported, the resolution appropriating $2,000 for the Rhode Island branch of the United States Life Saving Corps, and it was passed under suspension of the rules.

The finance committee also reported the appropriation of $5,000 for the representation of the state at official functions. Placed on the calendar.

The committee on public health reported the law licensing undertakers. Placed on the calendar.

The finance committee reported the resolution to re-imburse the Rhode Island Society of the Cincinnati for expenses incurred in locating the grave of General Nathanael Greene. Placed on the calendar.

Mr. Shea introduced an act regulating payment of Sunday work of employes of corporations. Referred to the committee on special legislation.

Both houses adjourned to Thursday at 11 o'clock.

LATEST NAVAL NEWS.

Orders to Officers and Movements of Vessels Reported Today.

(Special despatch to the News.)

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The following orders to officers were issued by the Navy Department today:

Lieutenant H. L. Brisner, detached from the Columbia and ordered home and to wait orders.

Lieutenant G. W. Danforth (retired), ordered to the Union Iron Works for duty as inspector.

Ensign S. Read, ordered to the Mayflower.

Midshipman J. S. Woods, detached from the Olympia and ordered to the Princeton.

Sailed—Lebanon, from Lambert Point for Newport.

Arrived—Yankton at Port Antonio, Scorpion at New Orleans, Dubuque at Santo Domingo City.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The President today sent to the senate the nomination of Lieutenant Colonel Charles F. Powell to be brigadier general.

ROOSEVELT ENEMY TO LABOR.

Gompers and Furuseth Denounce Gilbert Anti-Injunction Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor and A. Furuseth, president of the Seaman's Union, caused a furor today before the House committee on judiciary during the hearing on anti-injunction bills by denouncing the Gilbert anti-injunction bill, which is said to have been drawn by Mr. Garfield, chief of the bureau of corporations, and to have the endorsement of President Roosevelt.

Of the President's reported endorsement of the Gilbert bill, Mr. Furuseth said:

"If he understands this bill and then gives it his endorsement, he is an enemy to honest labor. Struggling under adverse conditions for a better life; nay, he would be an enemy to human liberty. We do not believe, will not believe it."

The Gilbert bill grants courts sitting in equity absolute jurisdiction in all cases growing out of labor troubles. The equity process in labor suits is violently opposed by the labor leaders.

FAVORS SENATE AMENDMENT.

Representative Babcock Speaks on the Statehood Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The legislative bill was laid before the House today and Mr. Babcock (Wis.) made a speech on statehood. He said the house bill was one of the greatest legislative outrages ever enacted; that the Senate had properly amended the bill, and he favored the Senate amendment. He dwelt at length on the reasons why Arizona and New Mexico should not be united as one state. Applause on both sides of the chamber greeted Mr. Babcock's conclusion.

Announcing that he wished to discuss the civil service of the government, Mr. Grosvenor (Ohio) said that one half the money that is squandered annually to support the civil service of the government would supply needed public buildings and provide for a ship subsidy which the following two years, he maintained, would put more money into the treasury than it took out. He reviewed the history of the merit system.

"Life tenure of office," he said, "that is he principal upon which the present system is based." Rotation of office, he said, is the correct underlying principle, and while he is not particularly pround of his constituency in that respect, he accepts it conclusion. He does not favor turning out the 576 clerks over 70 years old, whose only fault is age.

GRAVE SITUATION BEFORE THEM.

Executive Board of United Mine Workers in Session.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 14.—The series of meetings and conventions in which an effort is to be made to deal with the labor crisis in the coal industry was opened today by the session of the international executive board of the United Mine Workers. The miners' special convention will begin tomorrow.

All the delegates who have arrived thus far seem to be convinced that a grave situation confronts them. A majority believe that there will be a strike April 1.

President Mitchell said today that the anthracite miners would hold another convention, if will not be held until after the Indianapolis convention and joint conference.

ASK THAT CONSULAR BILL BE PASSED.

Resolutions Adopted by Reform Convention.

Secretary Root Makes an Address to Delegates.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Secretary Root addressed the consular reform convention today. He assured the convention that the government welcomed most gratefully the interest of citizens in every branch of activity. He said he was especially interested in the matter which has brought the delegates of the convention together—the improvement of the consular service. Secretary Root said the bill which passed the Senate and is now before the House would greatly improve the consular service. He expressed the hope that the action already taken by Congress would be endorsed by the convention.

The convention unanimously adopted the following report of the committee on resolutions:

"To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled:

"Your petitioners, the National Consular Reform Convention, consisting of accredited delegates from the business organizations, whose names are hitherto attached and representing several hundred additional commercial bodies from every state with whom they have been in communication, respectfully urge that it is of immediate and vital importance to the commercial welfare of the United States that our consular service be placed on a plane which comports with the dignity and the increasing need of the country.

"The rapid development of our agricultural and industrial interests demands that we acquire a much larger share of the world's trade than that which we control today. If the enterprise, the initiative, the ability and the resources of our people were supplemented by that assistance in foreign markets which can be given by a body of thoroughly efficient consular representatives, it is unquestionable that it would facilitate in no small measure the efforts of the United States to achieve that pre-eminence in foreign trade which they have in other directions. Unless we have that assistance, however, the development of our foreign commerce will be seriously retarded to the great detriment of our people.

"It is the opinion of the constituent bodies of this convention that the consular service of the United States should be re-organized as provided for in Senate bill No. 1,346 introduced by Senator Lodge, December 11, 1905. Every feature of that bill is in the judgment of the business organizations of the country most essential and in harmony with the growing need of the United States.

"Your petitioners regret therefore that some of the most vital provisions of that bill have been removed from it, but they nonetheless recognize as a step in the right direction the improvements to be made in the service by the bill as amended and passed by the Senate, January 30. In view of the gravity of the interests involved they earnestly demand that the bill be passed at this session of the Congress. Your petitioners deprecate that the bill as reported by the committee on foreign affairs of the House of Representatives eliminates the provision authorizing the President to transfer consuls from one post to another in the same grade. This is a most desirable feature, and your petitioners earnestly beg that it be re-incorporated in the bill."

This practically concludes the business of the convention. An adjournment was taken at noon, to go to the Capitol to meet Speaker Cannon.

TO HOLD FAMILY COUNCIL.

Taft to Discuss President's Offer of Place on Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Secretary Taft left today for New York, accompanied by Captain McIntyre, acting chief of the bureau of insular affairs. The Secretary has on hand in New York some important official business. He is to confer with some of the New York capitalists regarding the bids for the construction of railroads in Luzon. Another matter of business requiring the Secretary's attention is the meeting of the Prison Martyrs' Memorial Association. But the most interesting feature of Secretary Taft's trip to New York will be the family council, which will finally determine whether or not he shall accept the President's tender of a place on the supreme bench.

LARGE GAIN IN MEMBERSHIP.

Massachusetts New England Order of Protection Has Prosperous Year.

BOSTON, March 14.—A prosperous year is placed to the credit of the New England Order of Protection in the Massachusetts jurisdiction, according to the reports submitted to the grand lodge at the opening of the nineteenth annual session today. Grand Warden Frank A. Rice of Cambridge reported that the year was one of the most successful since the birth of the organization, a large gain in membership taking place. The net growth for the year was 1,780. The membership on January 1 numbered 19,019.

...NS OPPOSED TO STRIKE.

Willing to Accept Operators' Plan to Continue Present Agreement.

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., March 13.—Even staunch union men admit that the situation in the anthracite region today is quite the antithesis of what it was just previous to the strike of 1902. Then the majority of the men were clamoring for a strike, now there are ten men who are raising their voice against a strike to every one who favors closing down the mines April 1.

The proposition of the operators to continue the present wage agreements with almost universal approval of the men. The union officials are endeavoring to conceal this fact from the public, but it is expected that it will crop out at the Indianapolis convention, which opens tomorrow, and that the upshot of the meeting will be that another convention of the miners will be called, at which the men as a whole will ride roughshod over their leaders and vote to accept a renewal of the present agreement, which agreement would, of course carry with it a tacit recognition of the union.

While the rank and file of the miners confidently expect that hostilities will be averted, the operators are busily preparing for a strike. Coal is being rushed to the storage places and every colliery is working at its full capacity. A mining man who is in close touch with the coal situation figured that today the anthracite companies have stored and available for use over 8,000,000 tons, made up as follows: Lehigh Valley 1,505,000 tons, Reading 1,555,000, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western 1,055,000, Delaware & Hudson 500,000, Erie 750,000, Lehigh & Wilkesbarre 500,000, Lehigh Coal & Navigation 250,000, Ontario & Western 350,000, dealers 1,000,000, total 8,215,000 tons.

POOL SELLING BARRED.

Decision of New Hampshire Supreme Court in Horse Racing Case.

CONCORD, N. H., March 13.—That the making of books and pool selling at the race course of the New England Breeders' Club at Salem would be a violation of the law, and punishable by criminal as well as civil action, is the decision of the supreme judicial court returned today, in reply to the inquiries submitted to it by Governor John McLane and Council in reference to possible gambling at horse races.

In the absence of H. F. Hollis, the New Hampshire counsel for the Breeders' Club, it was impossible tonight to learn here what effect the court's decision would have on the races which are scheduled to be held at the new park next summer. The president and manager of the club is Andrew Miller of New York.

It was the general opinion here tonight that the races would be held without pool-selling or bookmaking. The decision of the New Hampshire supreme court on two sections of the act incorporating the club, which were copied from the New York race track law, is interpreted exactly opposite to the decision of the New York supreme court.

TANNER SPEAKS FOR VETERANS.

Bitterly Attacks Bill to Reduce Pay of Old Government Clerks.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—"Corporal" Tanner, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, has written a letter to Representative James A. Tawney of Minnesota, chairman of the House committee on appropriations, protesting vigorously against the enactment of a law reducing the compensation of government clerks after they have attained the age of 65 years. "Corporal" Tanner writes particularly in behalf of his comrades of the Civil war, many of whom now employed in the government service would be affected seriously by the proposed reduction in compensation.

The proposed bill provides that "after June 30, 1906, there shall not be employed in any executive department or other government establishment in the District of Columbia any person in the classified service who is 65 years of age and under 65 years of age at a rate of annual compensation exceeding $1,400, or who is 68 years old and under 70 years old at a rate of annual compensation exceeding $1,200, or who is over 70 years of age at a rate of annual compensation exceeding $840, and after June 30, 1913, no person in the classified service shall be continued in the employment of any such executive department or other government establishment who has attained 70 years of age."

VOLCANO DESTROYS VILLAGES.

One of the Samoan Islands Devastated and Lava Makes Sea Boil.

HONOLULU, March 13.—The officers of steamer Sierra, which has arrived here from Sydney, New South Wales, via Samoa, reports that the eruption of the volcano on the island of Savaii of the Samoan group continues on a large scale. Three villages have been completely destroyed, including Malealia, where was located the finest cocoa plantation on the island. The residences of A. King and G. Barkeley have been reduced to ruins and are a total loss.

The lava from the volcano is flowing into the ocean in a stream three-quarters of a mile wide and 20 feet deep at the rate of 20 feet an hour. At night a solid wall of molten lava five miles long can be seen crawling far out into the sea. For some distance ahead the sea water is boiling and the surf breaking over the fiery stream. The government recently chartered steamer Maori to remove women and children from the zone of danger.

The Sierra reports that there has been no communication with Tahiti since the recent disastrous hurricane.

My Spring Samples are now ready for inspection and can be seen at my house or at yours, if you will send word stating when to call.

WAR AGAINST DOGS.

Efforts of State Grange for More Stringent Laws to Prevent Damage to Live Stock.

The State Grange has come to the conclusion that its efforts to promote the sheep-raising industry among its members may be furthered by a general declaration of war against the whole canine tribe, backed up by the enactment of special legislation by the General Assembly to render the responsibility of dogs and their owners for unwonted damage to rural flocks more pronounced.

In the house of representatives yesterday an act was introduced by Representative William M. P. Bowen of Providence, in amendment of the two sections of the dog laws, which relate to the killing of dogs for depredations of certain kinds and for the assessment of court damages against their owners. There has long been a provision in this law for redress against both dog and owner on account of fowl and sheep and other stock killed, and persons whose flesh has been penetrated by canine fangs; but now, at the behest of the State Grange, it is proposed to enhance the enormity of such offences to a degree that will doubtless prompt a well-regulated dog to hesitate before jumping a neighboring enclosure and wringing the necks of chickens and turkeys, choking pigs and sheep, or worrying horses and cattle.

Under the law as at present framed the owner of stock which has suffered in this manner may claim and collect damages in proportion from the owner of the offending dog, and upon a repetition of the acts complained of he may collect double damages. If the State Grange has its way, however, the farmer may retrieve his loss by collecting double damages the very first time and if this does not operate to prevent a second offence, triple damages may then be his portion. When it comes to worrying sheep, the granger need not wait until the worrying process has actually commenced, but the minute the intent on the part of the dog is apparent, the latter and his owner become amenable to the same corrective measures as if damage had actually resulted, even to the extent of killing the dog. This, it is pointed out, makes a much more sensible arrangement, because in such a case only the dog would be killed, whereas at present both the dog and its quarry are put in jeopardy.

While they have been about it the fathers of the bill have considered other lines along which the dog laws could be made to operate more for their protection, and have extended the scope of the bill so as to embrace damage to grain and crops, as well as to livestock, in its provisions. The house committee on judiciary will discuss the bill.

PORTSMOUTH.

(Regular correspondence of the News.)

Contractor Nathaniel Champlin is making extensive repairs to the building on the Mill farm, the property of Fischlet David of Newport.

Miss Edith David was guest Sunday of her aunt, Mrs. LeRoy Smithwick of Fall River.

Mrs. Frank E. Rowell, who has been a semi-invalid for some time, is able to walk out for a short distance.

Mrs. Gertrude Wilbur has sung at St. Mary's for several Sundays.

Mr. Robert Purcell has begun the erection of a house on his lot on Glen street, purchased of B. Percival Sherman and adjoining his property. Mr. John R. Coggeshall is the builder.

It is common report that Mr. William L. Sisson has sold his farm on Perry Neck, where he now resides, to a Providence man and that he will move to the Sisson homestead on the corner of East Main road and Glen street, the estate being his property and the one to which Mr. William J. Brown has moved, since he sold his farm on Union street to Mr. Vanbilt.

Mr. George Gladding of Pawtucket has been guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Macomber.

TIVERTON.

There will appear in the warrant for the financial town meeting, which will be held next Wednesday, an article to see if the town will vote to contract for 50 street lights with the Tiverton Gas Company, to take the place of the kerosene lamps now in use at the north end. There is no doubt that the streets are dark and need lighting, and it does not seem that money could be appropriated for a purpose that would give any more benefit to all the people than for these lights. The women, especially, are interested in having the streets lighted.

Rev. Levi H. Edwards has returned from Mexico and Sunday held his first service at the mission of the Holy Trinity since his departure two months ago. At the session of the Sunday School he gave the children an interesting talk relative to the mission work carried on among the Aztec and Indian boys and girls in Mexico. Lenten services will be held each Thursday evening through Lent at the mission church.

It has been decided not to send fishing steamer Walter Adams to Southern waters. The boat will be engaged in the fishing business in the Promised Land waters this year. Fishing steamer Atlantic, Captain Otis Payne, left yesterday for South Carolina for the fishing season.

The Tiverton Gas company is installing gas in the Central Baptist church, and the work will soon be completed.

Abel G. Manchester of Tiverton Four Corners has set his traps off Sandy Point for the fishing season.

Edward B. Manchester in digging near the avenue, south of the residence of Thomas R. Negus, found an old English half-penny dated 1740.

Motion Against Protective Duties Closes Fiscal Debate.

LONDON, March 13.—The fiscal debate in the House of Commons ended early this evening by the premier, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, moving the closure.

The afternoon's discussion was devoid of interest, the Opposition occupying the time with irrelevant speeches and demands for divisions on many amendments. Eventually the motion of Sir James Kitson, ministerialist, declaring it to be the determination of Parliament to resist any attempt to institute protective duties, was carried by 471 to 98 votes.

The division displayed a cleavage in the Unionist ranks on the protectionist policy. Eight Unionists, including Lord Robert Cecil, voted with the government for Sir James Kitson's motion and 25 other free food Unionists abstained from voting.

OPERATIC COMPOSERS.

Only Four Grand Productions by Americans Have Been Staged.

Converse's "The Pipe of Desire" the Latest Candidate for National Popularity.

[Correspondence of the News.]

BOSTON, March 13.—Three hundred years ago Monteverdi, an Italian composer, was writing the first real opera to be produced on any stage—"Orfeo," which was brought out with great success at Mantua in 1607. Since then hundreds of grand operas have been written and performed by musicians of various nationalities, and, curiously enough, only four of them by American composers. "The Pipe of Desire," a romantic opera, the music by Frederick S. Converse, the libretto by George Edward Barton, which has been given several presentations this winter at Jordan Hall of the New England Conservatory of Music, is actually the fourth attempt by an American music writer to enter a field in which great European successes have been achieved but to which Americans have never been able to compete. Its predecessors were W. H. Fry's "Leonora," George F. Bristow's "Rip Van Winkle" and Walter Damrosch's "The Scarlet Letter."

This, in fact, represents our slender national output of grand opera up to date. Operatic performances we have had abundantly from colonial days down. In the middle of the nineteenth century, when the Italians were still supreme in the kind of musical composition which they created, as they supposed, out of the Greek drama, every American city of any size saw frequent representations. New Orleans in particular for many years has had an operatic development of its own. Later, when Wagner began to supersede the Italians in European popularity American audiences listened attentively and, for the most part, respectfully to performances the like of which they had never before conceived.

All the French operas from Meyerbeer through Massenet have been frequently heard in this country, and we are not only familiar with Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" but we assisted the composer back to Italy by refusing to attend his personally conducted performances of other music. We have certainly listened to grand opera enough—besides occasionally being at the opera house in New York when high society was out in stunning array—but we never have had composers who could write operas, outside of the department of comic productions.

The three previous efforts were greeted with no especial success. William H. Fry, in March, 1858, produced the first opera by a native American composer—"Leonora," which he had written to English words 13 years before but which was first performed in Italian in New York under the direction of Gilman. It was far from being great music, though Fry was a graduate of the Paris Conservatoire and a musician of considerable ability. Similarly the "Rip Van Winkle" of George F. Bristow, who for many years was at the head of the music department of the New York city public schools, failed to make good, despite some excellent passages in it; nor has Mr. Damrosch's interpretation of Hawthorne's Puritan tragedy gained more than a reputation of esteem among the critics; it has never stirred the imagination of the music-loving public, so that there is a record of failures for the consideration of every American aspirant for honors in grand operatic composition.

Whether Mr. Converse's initial attempt will share the fate of the others remains, of course, for the future to determine. He has at all events met with a great temporary success. It appears to have been the impression of the music critics and of the general public who witnessed the performance of the "Pipe of Desire" that he has written a real opera which, despite some defects of construction, is likely to attain a permanent reputation.

The theme of this work is a tragedy of shepherd life. Iolan, a young Arcadian, plans to marry a beautiful maid, Naoia. To celebrate the approaching nuptials certain sylvan creatures, against the wishes of their ruler, the grizzled Old One—for one of the rules of spirit land is that evil follows whenever the sprites make themselves visible to a human—determine to welcome him in their revels. The disobedience brings fearsome consequences. The sombre representative of fate reluctantly agrees to pipe in order that his elfin folk may dance before the peasant. Iolan is impelled by the music first to take part in the mad revel and finally in a wild outbreak of gayety to snatch from the Old One his basset-horn and attempt to draw music from it.

Even to touch the weird instrument is absolutely forbidden to mortals. Iolan can bring from it only discordant strains, which Naoia, who lies on a sick bed, stricken with a fever, hears afar off, and, led by an irresistible impulse, makes haste to join her lover in the forest. The interval up to her arrival is filled with a recital of Iolan's dream of happiness in which the efforts with which he has prepared his house for the wedding and the plans that have been made for a life of usefulness and delight are glowingly described. The recital is interrupted by the coming of Naoia, faint from the hardships of a journey which she was unfit to undertake. Tenderly welcomed by Iolan, she dies in his arms, and the reckless swain in rather long drawn out anguish perishes by her side. The Old One's prophecy is thus complete.

Around this literary theme Mr. Converse has built up a true opera, with a notable overture and a continuous interturning of the mystic and sombre numbers of the Old One with the frolicsome springtime strains of his subjects. The music runs in an alternating current of dark and bright. The swaying dance of brilliant salamanders, long bearded gnomes and shadowy undines halts as the Old One warns:

"'Tis the Pipe God gave to Lilith,
And she played to man in Eden,
But its charm was rent by woman;
Now we play its potent music
That those in solitude may hear,
And continue, restless, wandering,
Searching ever....
Let thy tune, now sad, now merry,
Wax and wane with every breath;
Let the joy of love's beginning
Blend into the chant of death.
Let the mortal who dares play thee
Without knowledge of thy mood,
Pale in terror at thy meaning,
And die when he has understood."

Mr. Converse is a member of the group of Boston composers which includes George W. Chadwick, Professor J. K. Paine, Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, Miss Margaret Ruthven Lang, Arthur Foote and several others. After a course at Harvard he studied with Professor Paine and with Rheinberger at Munich. He now teaches harmony at the New England Conservatory, and for the past three years has been assistant professor of music in Harvard University which has lately entered into reciprocal relations with the Conservatory. Many of his works have already been performed—among them "The Mystic Trumpeter," based upon Walt Whitman's poem, brought out last year by the Philadelphia symphony orchestra and about to be given this spring in Cincinnati by Van der Stucken; and two symphonic poems, "Endymion's Narrative," which the Boston Symphony Orchestra played in 1903, and "The Festival of Pan," which has been heard in London Warsaw, Boston, Cambridge, Chicago and elsewhere. His ballad, "La Belle Dame Sans Merci," based upon Keats' poem, was sung by David Bispham at Symphony Hall, Boston, March 2.

George E. Barton, author of the libretto of "The Pipe of Desire" is an architect of literary tastes. Fifty men from the Boston Symphony composed the orchestra. Their leader was Wallace Goodrich, acting director of the Conservatory during the absence in Europe of Mr. Chadwick, and conductor of the Worcester music festival and the Boston Choral Art Society. The cast consisted entirely of local talent. Several of the members were advanced students from the opera school of the Conservatory. The chorus of gnomes, sylphs, undines and salamanders was drawn from the same source.

"THE DAY DREAMER."

It is not often that the play comes first and the novel afterwards, but this is what Jesse Lynch Williams has done in "The Day Dreamer." This is the novelization of "The Stolen Story," a play the incident of which was taken from a short tale published in magazine form several years ago under the title of "News and the Man." It is a story of newspaper life, with a reporter the hero, who ferrets out a political intrigue. Billy Woods is feared by the politicians, some of whom were already behind prison walls because of his pen. He is a strange mixture of absent-minded indifference, and great force when he is aroused from his apparent apathy. It is this absent-mindedness, making him completely oblivious of his surroundings, which creates the story. This habit of his gets him into all sorts of uncomfortable positions, which end in an original climax.

The other characters in the book are made subordinate, and have little to do except as they are connected with Woods. The heroine is a young society girl, who resents his absent-minded ills and yet is attracted by his strange personality. One moment paying no attention to what she is saying or doing, the next moment all devotion, full of enthusiasm, bright and clever, Woods is no ordinary reporter, having been war correspondent, and knowing eminent personages, not excluding crowned heads, on both continents.

The love story is secondary to the interest taken in the breaking up of a conspiracy on the part of Tammany spoilsmen, who almost drag down with them in the mire the fair name of Colonel Cunningham, a former cabinet officer. Dignified old statesman that he is, he thought he could reform a board of New York commissioners. He did persuade them to agree with a scheme of his, to provide for a park system, but the wily politicians also had their scheme, which nearly came to a successful finish.

The story is full of dramatic incident, which reaches its climax in an extraordinary scene in a newspaper office. Mr. Williams has written a clever story, unhackneyed and unusual in plot and treatment, while he has reproduced the atmosphere of newspaper life as only one can do who knows it by personal experience.

THE BABY.

Where did you come from, baby dear?
Out of the everywhere into the here.

Where did you get your eyes so blue?
Out of the sky as I came through.

What makes the light in them sparkle and spin?

Where did you get that little tear?
I found it waiting when I got here.

What makes your forehead so smooth and high?
A soft hand stroked it as I went by.

What makes your cheeks like a warm white rose?
Something better than any one knows.

Whence that three-cornered smile of bliss?
Three angels gave me at once a kiss.

Where did you get that pearly ear?
God spoke, and it came out to hear.

Where did you get those arms and hands?
Love made itself into hooks and bands.

Feet, whence did you come, you darling things?
From the same box as the Cherub's wings.

How did they all just come to be you?
God thought about me, and so I grew.

But how did you come to me, you dear?
God thought of you, and so I am here.

"Who says the Illiterate get no pleasure out of classic art?" remarked the alumnus of the University of Rochester recently. "A copy of the Winged Victory was placed in the centre of our library last summer. One of the workmen, a recent importation from Dublin, surveyed the headless and armless statue with some curiosity.

"'An' what may ye call that fellow?' he asked.

"'That's the statue of Victory,' said the librarian.

"'Victory, is it?' said the man; 'begorra, I'd like to see the other fellow, then.'"—[New York Tribune.

TO LEVY RECTIFIERS' TAX.

Governor of Kentucky Calls Extraordinary Session of Legislature.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 14.—The General Assembly's session of 1906 closed shortly after midnight. The legislature failed to agree upon the article in the new revenue bill proposing a tax on rectified spirits manufactured in the state, and the governor thereupon called an extraordinary session, to begin today to levy a rectifier's tax and to make the necessary change in the law in the revenue bill.

A JURY OF BACHELORS.

A divorce case on trial in Chicago raises the highly interesting question whether the attitude of husbands toward wives is usually one of suspicion and hostility. In this case the wife is the defendant, and she insists on the exclusion of married men from the jury. All married men have faults, she says; they are disposed to stand together, and they are ready to believe anything evil of women. She thinks she can get justice from a bachelor, who would regard a woman with some degree of gallantry, or at least with freedom from prejudice.

If there is any foundation for this, the defendant ought to have a jury of married women. Or would she say, as the ill-natured or the facetious say, that women are prone to be unjust to each other? The popular novelist who writes under the name of John Strange Winter said in a recent speech that men are more apt to be just than women, but she did not say that women are particularly unjust to each other; and while a literary woman of a former generation said she was glad she was a woman because she didn't have to marry one, yet she was probably indulging her literary passion for saying clever things rather than expressing a deliberate conviction.

Marriage is indeed a failure if the attitude of husbands to wives is correctly stated by the Chicago defendant. It would require more evidence than the opinion of this one person, whose husband is suing her for divorce, to establish this disagreeable proposition. It assumes that most married people live together in a state of armed neutrality, when not in open warfare. We are under no compulsion to believe anything of the sort. The cases of marital misery come before the public; the cases of married happiness do not. If we allow that many cases of unhappiness exist which do not reach the public, we may still assume that the great mass of married people are content and most of them are happy, and that husbands as a class are not incapable of being just to wives.

THE TROUBLE IN CHINA.

General Corbin predicts peace in China. He thinks the report of trouble and friction there are exaggerated. He has made a study of the conditions and the situation in the Far East, and the results of his observations are that he does not believe there is sufficient reason to fear any bloodshed or serious disturbance among the Chinese. He claims that Americans are not the special object of the anti-foreign feeling in that country, but that it is stirred up by the modern business methods employed by foreigners in that country, and also by the methods used by some missionaries in prosecuting their labors there. Of course the Americans are included among these foreigners, and it is not at all improbable that some of them are among the number both of business men and missionaries whose activities are objectionable to the natives. But they are not singled out, the general says, as especially responsible for the conditions and consequently are not the particular objects of hatred.

This opinion expressed by General Corbin is somewhat reassuring, for he has had the opportunity to investigate and learn with accuracy the exact situation in China and his conclusions are therefore entitled to weight. The government of this country and popular opinion as well do not approve all that is done in the Far East by either the business men or the missionaries who have gone to that part of the world, and it would be a matter of great regret if the methods employed by these two classes of advance agents of civilization should result in plunging this country into war with China. But there is strong ground for hope that such a disaster may be averted.

RESPONSIBILITY OF THE OPERATORS.

The coal mine operators seem prepared to assume the brunt of the responsibility for the strike of miners which now again appears to be impending. They have refused every demand of the miners and have announced definitely and positively that they will not yield a jot in their contention for the continuance of the present conditions. This places the responsibility for a strike, if one occurs, squarely upon them, for in any labor trouble it is usual for each side in settling the controversy to yield a little in order to reach a satisfactory conclusion. But the operators have now placed themselves on record as unwilling to make any compromise with the miners. This is the position which they took at the beginning of the trouble, but it was expected that as the negotiations progressed they would yield at least a little, and so help toward a settlement of the difficulties without a strike.

The operators in assuming this attitude are placing themselves in the position of incurring the displeasure of the people, for if a strike comes after this declaration by the coal barons, and without yielding on their part, the people will be certain to put on them the blame for what will follow. Of course the miners may be held partly responsible also, but they will not have asserted their unwillingness to listen to reason and to remain open to conviction, or have refused all offers of compromise. The operators have thus assumed an attitude which they may find later is full of unpleasant consequences to themselves, for the people do not soon forget when they are forced to suffer as they were a few years ago by a similar struggle between the miners and the operators.

But while the prospect looks darker again than it did a few days ago, there is still hope. The coal barons may yet be made to see the lack of wisdom in such a position as that which they have taken and may again open their ears to the pleadings of the people for a settlement of the difficulty without a strike. Besides, President Roosevelt has not yet stepped in, as he did at the time of the last strike at the right moment, and used his influence on the operators. He has indeed indicated his desire that a prolonged labor struggle may be avoided, but he has not played his last card, and not improbably has more than one in reserve.

There are political influences, too, which may yet be brought to bear upon the situation that may prove powerful toward a settlement of the trouble. The leaders of the Republican party do not want a big strike just on the eve of so many congressional elections next fall and may be depended upon to make a strong effort to avert such an occurrence, which might be disastrous to that party at the polls. Altogether, therefore, though the situation is serious, it is not hopeless, and there is still ground for belief that something may be done to prevent the strike so much dreaded by the people.

A JUDGE IN DISGRACE.

Judge Deuel of New York evidently is not bothered by fine distinctions of professional etiquette, or even by the recognition of the common decencies of life, or he would not sit officially upon the bench he has disgraced. He apparently fails to feel that there is any incongruity in a wearer of the ermine exercising the duties of his position and weighing out justice to others, while he is under investigation himself as to the rectitude of his life and conduct. It was bad enough to have him still nominally on the bench after the exposures which have been made concerning him, but to have him hold his seat there in spite of and indeed in defiance of public opinion and judicial judgment places before the people a pitiful spectacle.

There ought to be some way by which the country would be spared such an experience, but if the judge himself is unable to realize the impropriety of exercising his usual duties on this bench while he is under a cloud there is no escape from such a picture as has been presented to the public by him. The sooner the judge is removed from the position which he has dishonored and placed where he will not be able again to affront the sense of decency and right which is entertained by the people, if not by him, the better it will be as a lesson to others who may be inclined toward the same wrong doing practiced by this false exponent of the profession.

The persistency of the administration forces in urging the statehood upon Arizona and New Mexico against the wishes of the people of at least one of these territories has never been satisfactorily explained. From this distance it looks as if the country would be better off if Oklahoma and Indian Territory alone were admitted, and Arizona and New Mexico left to show their fitness for the advancement. From present indications, if Speaker Cannon and the House persist in the rule-or-ruin, two-states-or-none policy, Oklahoma and Indian Territory will not secure their just deserts.

Henry Loomis Nelson, the Boston Herald's special correspondent, says a movement has been started to make President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton University the Democratic candidate for President of the United States. Mr. Nelson says, however, that the movement is germinatory, which according to authority means that it is beginning to vegetate or to develop into an embryo or higher form as a germ. As yet, therefore, the movement is a very small affair, with only a promise of growth.

After many denials of the reports of ill-health of Senator Chauncey M. Depew, it is now acknowledged that he is taking the "rest cure" at the country home of a friend and will be unable to see his friends or resume his duties for an indefinite period. His present relapse is said to be less the result of new symptoms than a failure to properly recover from the mental and physical strain to which he has been subjected for the last three or four months. It is possible, even probable, that Mr. Depew will not be able to perform his duties as Senator this year.

Secretary Taft is still considering the President's offer of a place on the Supreme Court bench. It is apparently too good a place to refuse, but it would practically cut him out of the running for the Presidency—and there's the rub.

The Congressional committee's report on hazing at the Naval Academy hits the nail on the head. If the Academy authorities have allowed or even winked at hazing, the cadets should not be blamed for the practice.

The miners evidently do not wish to strike and are unprepared for it, but the leaders may settle the matter for them.

Another example of this winter's conception of a snowstorm in Newport.

DEALERS IN PROPRIETARY MEDICINES TO PAY TAX.

A recent decision of the Secretary of the Treasury that will have a direct bearing upon all dealers in certain proprietary articles which are now "sold for medicinal use," will become operative April 1. The decision requires that all such dealers, whether grocers or druggists, shall pay a United States tax of $25 per year as retail liquor dealers.

This decision went into effect January 1, so far as rectifiers or manufacturers and wholesalers were concerned, forcing them to pay the special tax, but a three months' grace was given to the small dealers and retailers, so as to afford them an opportunity of disposing of their stock of such goods if they did not desire to continue their sale. This requirement by the government for a special tax on certain goods that have heretofore been classed as proprietary medicines will more closely affect the grocers who have carried such articles than it will the druggists, as the latter as a rule already pay the required retail liquor dealers' license to the international revenue department.

In the circulars issued by the Treasury Department concerning this matter are given the names of the various compounds that come within the scope of the decision. The list includes the following: Atwood's La Grippe Specific, Cuban Gingerie, De Witt's Stomach Bitters, Dr. Bonvier's Buchu Gin, Dr. Fowler's Meat and Malt, Duffy's Malt Whiskey, Gilbert's Rejuvenating Iron and Herb Juice, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, Kudros, Pemma and Rockandy Cough Cure.

The fact that very large quantities of the above named, and other proprietary articles of a like character were offered for sale in the Western states, where there were stringent temperance laws, and also in other sections of the country where there were prohibitory laws, led the government to make a thorough investigation which resulted in finding, it is asserted in the circulars, that the body of the articles was composed of a sufficient amount of rectified spirits to warrant the assessing of a special tax upon the goods put up under the above names.

In this state, especially in the country districts, a number of the keepers of small groceries are said to have been carrying a stock of some of these goods, but have now decided that with the requirements of a $25 tax it would cease to be profitable to continue to handle such goods. A few, however, will pay the tax and continue to sell the "medicines" thus taxed by the government and upon which a levy must be paid after April 1.

THE DESOLATE DEAD SEA.

(Technical World Magazine.)

There are in the Holy Land but few industries and these of the most primitive kind. The awful desolation of the Dead Sea, however, which lies nearly 1,300 feet below the level of the Mediterranean, is broken here and there by the salt divers, whose work is probably as ancient as the human race itself. Sea has been collected and brought to the Jerusalem market, where it is used for curing hides and for domestic purposes.

Dead Sea water contains over 25 per cent of solid substances, of which 7 per cent is chloride of sodium, or common salt. It is chloride of magnesium which gives the water its horribly bitter taste; while the chloride of calcium makes it feel smooth and oily to the touch, so that after the very curious sensation of a bath in the Dead Sea the skin retains an oily sensation.

The Dead Sea contains no living creature; sea fish put into its waters speedily die. Not a single boat navigates its strange waters, nor is there any sign of life, save the isolated parties of salt divers, who scrape and slowly amass their precious glistening heaps of crystal near the mouth of the Jordan.

When a sufficient cargo is made ready a long string of camels crosses the desert; and the salt is loaded up into panniers or "shwerries," and taken into Jerusalem, where it finds a ready market.

AROUND RHODE ISLAND.

The Militia's General Attack on the Appropriations.

Exciting Elections in Bristol and Warren—Kent County Gas Company.

The Brigade Rhode Island Militia may be assumed to have attained a strategical point in securing its appropriation of $50,000 from the General Assembly last week. Those directing operations apparently think so, for the sortie was followed by an aggressive attack yesterday, and up to the present the belligerents hold the field. No less than five bills authorizing additional appropriations for specific purposes of the militia were filed into the House at yesterday's session. The aggregate of these amounts is $6,000, a sum equal to more than half the $12,500 extra which the military department realized in its annual appropriation item. The attack yesterday came from all along the line, and was evidently the result of a preconcerted plan of campaign. Colonel Zenas W. Bliss, an officer on the staff of the commander-in-chief, opened fire with a $4,500 charge for a water supply at the state camp grounds. He was quickly followed by Mr. North of the Woonsocket detachment, with one of $400 for rifle ranges in that city and Westerly. The reverberations had hardly died away when Major Easterbrooks and his able aide, Mr. Bullock, opened up from the Pawtucket position near the centre of the line, and sent in two hot shots for $500 each, one labelled "wharf repairs at camp grounds" and the other "repairs to Pawtucket Armory heating apparatus." The field was almost won when a mortar from the Exeter battery was let loose, and a $1,000 shell, tagged "fertilizer," put the opposing forces effectually to rout. The casualties will be investigated and reported by the committees on militia and finance, between which two details the work has been divided. Few who are acquainted with the circumstances doubt that the $50,000 appropriation was warranted, and it is even said that less than $3,000 now remains of the $12,500 increase over last year's appropriation, the other $9,500 having gone to pay bills outstanding from last year and expenditures already incurred this year.

The voters of Bristol and Warren are today in the throes of elections for town officers. Bristol will have by far the hottest of contests held in the old town for many a day. It is a fight with the Republicans and Democrats combined on the same list of candidates, lined up against the Citizens' Good Government or Reform party, and though the pieces of the campaign workers have been of the most lively order for the past ten days, on the whole there has been no friction between these workers or their leaders, but on the contrary the electioneering forces of both sides have frequently met and freely and good naturedly discussed the merits of their respective candidates for town council, paying little heed to the other candidates for office. There are 1514 persons entitled to vote in the election, a list somewhat smaller than on other annual elections, due to the failure of more than 200 persons to register. In Warren there is a contest for three places on the town council list, on the school committee and tax collector, between Republicans and Democrats, but the affair will not be as lively as that at Bristol. The Republicans are in power in Warren and the party leaders say the party nominees will be returned, while on the other hand the Democrats have of late been making a pretty close canvass and expect to land some of their candidates in office.

An act to incorporate the Kent County Gas Company was presented in the house of representatives yesterday by Mr. Woodmansee of Warwick, and referred to the committee on corporations. The bill provides for a capital stock not exceeding $250,000, and authorizes the company to manufacture and sell gas for light, heat and power in Warwick, Coventry and East Greenwich, the villages of Pickeville, Jackson and Hope, and the towns of Cranston and Scituate, and to buy, sell and mortgage real and personal property in connection with the business. The right to construct works over or under highways and railroads is embodied, with the provision that work is to be done under the direction of the town council, and that five days notice be given to the railroad in each case. The company is to have a place of business in Warwick and is authorized to issue bonds, secured by a mortgage, on its franchise and other property, to an amount not exceeding its capital stock. The incorporators named are Edward E. Arnold, J. Ellery Hudson and Job S. Carpenter.

Clad only in such garments as they could seize at a second's notice, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Sayles of East Providence escaped from danger in their burning home by a narrow margin shortly after 1 o'clock this morning, losing not only all their household furniture but practically all their wearing apparel as well. It was providential that Mr. Sayles awakened, else both would have perished in the flames which burned the house to the ground and destroyed a portion of a large greenhouse adjoining, doing in all damage estimated at between $3,000 and $4,000. It was shortly after 1 o'clock when Mr. Sayles, who is a druggist employed in Fall River, was awakened by the closeness of the air in his room. Though hardly roused, he realized at once that the room was filled with smoke. Springing from bed, he roused Mrs. Sayles, and by that time the flames were beginning to show, so that the couple were able to put on only their outer garments before escaping from the house. So great was their hurry that a pet dog, a cocker spaniel, belonging to Mrs. Sayles, had to be left to death in the fire.

The memory of Major General John Sullivan, the Irish-American patriot, sometimes known as the "hero of the battle of Rhode Island," will be honored by the installation of a memorial tablet in the Rhode Island State House, permission therefor having been granted by the State House commissioners. The American Irish Historical Society, represented here by Judge Thomas Z. Lee, made the request, and Judge Lee will report its granting to a meeting of the executive committee of the society soon to be held in New York. The work of preparing the memorial will then proceed with as little delay as possible. The memorial project originated at a meeting of the society held last January in New York. John D. Crimmins of that city, chairman of the Municipal Art Commission of New York and one of the executive council of the American Irish Historical Society, will first pass upon the designs, after which the State House Commission here will look them over. The tablet will occupy a niche in the State House near the Continental battle flags at the right of the main entrance.

What is believed to have been an attempt to set fire to the lumber yard owned by Potter & Gardiner, Eddy street, Providence, was frustrated Monday night by Thomas Taylor. In an investigation which followed a bag which contained an oil-soaked gunnysack was found. The man who tried to set fire to the lumber yard ran away, but the police have a good description of him. The man threw the oil-soaked sack over the fence on Dyer street. It landed between the house where Taylor resides and the blacksmith shop owned by W. W. Batchelor. This building is adjacent to the big lumber sheds owned by Potter & Gardiner, and if the fire-bug had succeeded in setting fire to the bag before he was discovered he probably would not only have caused great damage to the property but endangered several lives. Taylor said that he was walking along Eddy street, when he saw a man ahead of him. The fellow stopped when he reached the board fence and threw a bundle over. Taylor walked briskly up and before the man had completed his job approached. The man saw Taylor when he was several yards away and started to run. Taylor's suspicions were not aroused until after the man had fled out of sight, but he saw him long enough to get a good description of him. Taylor investigated and going behind the fence found the paper bag. He picked it up and found that it was packed with very inflammable material and was saturated with kerosene.

STATE OF RHODE ISLAND AND PROVIDENCE PLANTATIONS.

TO Harold Brown, deceased, by G. W. R. Matteson, et. al. Trustees, James S. Cowles, Evelyn Thompson, John F. Sullivan, Augusta Stevenson Hamilton, Jennie Mutare, Heirs of William H. Bateman, Henry B. Bateman, Alice C. Vanderbilt, (Seal) Samuel Smith, Howard A. Stevenson, The Coddington Savings Bank, The Savings Bank of Newport by Grant P. Taylor, Treasurer, The New England Commercial Bank by Nicholas Underwood, Cashier and to all others interested in the land hereafter mentioned,

GREETINGS:

WHEREAS, James S. Cowles and others, by their petition to the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newport, in said State, have prayed said Board to declare the following described piece of land to be a public highway, to wit: that strip of land running from Cesgos hall avenue to Carroll Avenue about forty feet in width, said strip of land being commonly called and known as Bateman avenue, and representing that said highway has been quietly, peaceably and actually used and improved and considered as a public highway for the space of more than twenty years last past, AND it being shown to said Board that you are interested in, or have claims to said land through which said so-called street is laid, or some part thereof, said Board referred the consideration of said petition to the Third day of April, A. D. 1906, at 8 o'clock, P. M. in the Aldermanic Chamber in the City Hall in said Newport.

YOU are therefore, hereby notified to appear before said Board at said time and place, if you see fit, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, and said piece or strip of land declared by said Board of Aldermen to be a public highway according to the statute in such case made and provided.

Ordered and given by said Board of Aldermen on the Sixth day of March, A. D. 1906.

Signed and sealed by order and in behalf of said Board of Aldermen by David Stevens, Clerk of said Board, on the day last aforesaid.

THEY TOOK A VIEW.

Case of Nancy Horsman Against the Town, for Damages, Before the Court.

Judge Stearns presided in the superior court this morning.

The case of Nancy Horsman of Tiverton against Henry C. Osborn, town treasurer of Tiverton, was taken up, Mr. Burdick appearing for plaintiff and Colonel Sheffield and Mr. Levy for defendant. The case was given to the following jury: Ralph B. Dodge of New Shoreham, foreman; Michael C. Harris, Newport; Martin V. Ball, New Shoreham; James Hall, Newport; James F. Martin, Portsmouth; Benjamin H. Simmons, Little Compton; Harry S. Vickers, Newport; Lewis R. Manchester, Middletown; James A. Rafferty, Newport; Leander W. Coggeshall, Portsmouth; Charles N. Goddard, Newport; Edward H. Caswell, Middletown.

The court announced that a view was to be taken at the request of the plaintiff and explained the matter to the jury.

All jurors not on this panel were "excused permanently," this being the last jury case for this session.

The jury went to take the view, and Judge Stearns also went. Sheriff Anthony was the committee of arrangements and had a special car waiting at the City Hall. His assistant was Deputy Sheriff Harvey. Messrs. Sheffield, Burdick and Levy went and the courtesies of the trip were also extended to the press.

About the first thing the jurors saw was a box of cigars, which the sheriff passed around, everybody, including the crew of the car and the reportorial department, being given a chance at a free smoke. Some smoked in moderation, and some did not smoke at all, so that the air in the car remained fairly good. The car was duly decorated with red and white signal flags and made good time, although not really saving much from the regular running schedule.

On the run the jurors amused themselves as they saw fit. Colonel Sheffield explained to the court some of the places passed, the two occupying front seats in the car.

At the Mile Corner a stop for telephone orders was made, and then the party part of the ride began. The sun was still slightly obscured, some light clouds being in evidence, but there was a good light and the bay and the land beyond showed well. The roads were frozen and there was ice and a little light snow here and there, but the clear water was running prettily at the roadside as the car reached the top of Town House hill. The old mill near the Four Corners gave a dignified salute, its arms revolving slowly as the car passed from sight. A teamer walked in the road, thrashing his arms, to get up a little warmth in the frosty air, and at Slate Hill the sun was out and the East river was making a pretty view.

The court had an opportunity to see the big new Vanderbilt horse training building, and the Gibbs place, where Channing was said to have spent some of his days. The smooth brown fields made a pleasant sight in the sunlight, and again the East river showed its handsome views. The car sped on past expectant passengers waiting near the track. Here and there a letter box by the roadside displayed its red signal, and one tree actually was bearing an orange.

At the car barn the car waited. The regular which had been following caught up and the south-bound car passed. A little flurry of small snowflakes also came down, and the trip was resumed.

An old gnarled tree, a fine calla lily in a window, a little steamer on the East river, a lot of ducks dotting the water as the car reached Ferry Neck, and then the deserted cottages of that region came into view, one with a particularly wide and interesting angle on its stovepipe chimney. Island Park was passed and the picturesque views at the bridge were soon reached. The sheriff was warned that if he put all the jury on one side of the diminutive "West Side" it would tip the boat over; but he is not easily intimidated and tried it—and all got safely across, other passengers being taken also. Dredging was going on at the west side of the spacious bridge opening and work also seemed to be in progress at the eastern side.

Passengers and jurors mingled as they left the boat, and one of the car crew had time to play pranks with the rope bridle of a horse waiting to go on the ferryboat. The special car in waiting was cold, as the trolley, which many would not think of as a steam pipe, had been off. But the car was soon warm, and after a wait followed the regular towards Fall River, starting just as the train crossed the railroad bridge going towards Newport. In the harbor between the bridges the large fishing fleet swung idly at anchor, the steamers showing no sign of life as yet. Some of the Tiverton fields showed a little more snow than those on Rhode Island.

After a quick run of about three miles in Tiverton the car turned from the main road into Canonicus street and stopped. Two stalwart representatives of the Tiverton police were on hand, but the forces from Newport were not molested. The surface was muddy, with a little snow here and there—an inducement to walk on the car track.

After a walk of a few rods the party was at the objective point of the expedition. The white pole, the Pemberton house near it, the Justin Reed house on the other side of it, from the window of which one of the witnesses looked out; Nancy Horsman's house, still farther on, on the other side of the street, by the lamp post; the gutter and its bridges were all seen. Just what the people in Reed house thought to see 15 men staring at their dining room window is yet to be learned. The street mounts a hill as the car approaches from Fall River. The gutter is some 18 inches across, rather deep at the point in question. The step of a closed car comes just at the edge (nearer the track) of the gutter, and the distance from the step to the bottom of the gutter seemed to be well toward three feet. The superintendent of the street railroad accompanied the party on the trip through Tiverton.

The view completed, the party boarded its car, the sheriff repeated the cigar treat for every man on the car who smoked, and the return was made. It seemed a short one, although the regular car was followed all the way in. As the car reached Tiverton heights the splendid view, right over the tree tops in the distance, came into full sight, and a lone steamboat on the bay added interest to the scene. At Melville Station a short stop was made while the regular car took on the mails, which looked pretty bulky. Then a snow fort came into view—and it was a first-class one, with many a piece of drain pipe to represent its formidable guns. A pretty conservatory with windows full of flowers, some attractive cottages along the way, and almost before the party was aware it was walking down Broadway from the City Hall to the court house.

It was headed by the Judge and Colonel Sheffield, Deputy Sheriff Harvey making a close second. People looked, but he had on an overcoat, so that his brass buttons did not show. What the people thought, and what they would have thought if he and Sheriff Anthony had flashed their buttons, is hard to tell. They are careful not to let the public see them off the court house premises.

It was a very successful view, and considering the season a pretty comfortable one too. Only it was a pretty hungry party after the ride in the sharp air.

Mr. Burdick opened for plaintiff. He explained that the case was brought by Nancy Horsman against the town of Tiverton to recover for injuries received through the neglect of the town to keep one of its highways, Canonicus street, in proper repair. The accident occurred on the thirtieth of August, 1904. Plaintiff was returning from Fall River, on an open car, between 5 and 6 P. M. She stepped on what appeared to be firm earth, and went down into a hole, perhaps 24 inches deep. Was confined to the house, is still obliged to wear a special stocking, has never recovered, and still has pains. The gutters were covered with grass. Others had fallen in holes in the gutters, and the town council had been specially warned about the gutters on Commercial street. Plaintiff made due claim on the town council for damages.

A. Lincoln Hambly was sworn. He is town clerk of Tiverton and has been since 1898. Has always lived in Tiverton. He identified the claim of Mrs. Horsman, which was presented to him Sunday, October 23, 1904, and was presented to the town council, which appointed a committee to secure legal advice and take such action as it thought necessary. It took no other action. Witness goes over Canonicus street often, in electric cars. It is a much traveled street. Not much has been done to repair it. It runs east and west from Main street to Shove street. The track is on the north side of the street. Witness identified a copy of the deed of the street from Augustus Chase, July, 1881, to the town. He also identified a copy of the records of acceptance of the street by the town, August 1, 1881, and two later meetings.

In cross-examination he said he saw the street in August, 1904, from the cars. It was then in good condition. The gutter is an ordinary gutter, so far as he could see. It was in good order. He walks over the street three or four times a year. The gutter could not be seen from the car.

Mr. Burdick called, out of order, Dr. John Westall of Fall River, who graduated at Dartmouth and practices in Fall River and Tiverton. He was called to Mrs. Horsman's home in August, the evening she was injured. Found her in great pain, her left shoulder badly sprained and bruised, left ankle swelled and painful, a ligament being partially ruptured, and an old hernia was in aggravated condition. She suffers all the time from weakness of the ankle. She is obliged to be very careful or it will turn over and her injury would be repeated.

Treatment has continued. She is not fully well yet and calls occasionally at the office. She was about three weeks confined to bed; still has difficulty in putting her left arm behind her back, and has to go with a stick because of the ankle. Witness has a bill of $82 against her. She has paid him nothing. Her foot had apparently been turned in at the fall and the ligament of the ankle is probably permanently weakened. Witness never knew of previous trouble of plaintiff's left limb. One of the largest causes of hernia is sudden shock.

Here the witness finished and it being 12:55 a recess to 2 P. M. was taken.

Mr. Nolan gave his side of the Carter-Geisheneu case, which differs considerably from the other side, given in Monday's News. He says Carter was not on Mill street at all. He had worked a long time for the well known firm of Knull & Anthony and Mr. Nolan says he was on his way to dinner, coming up Thames street, at a moderate pace. The automobile, it is claimed, shot ahead at the crossing at Market square and Thames street, and struck him, breaking his arm. Mrs. Geisheneu took him to Dr. Sweet and directed that he be cared for, but Mr. Nolan has a bill for the treatment, for $19.50, on which but $12 has been paid, leaving $27.50 unpaid.

The next day Carter went to Narragansett Pier. He had learned from Dr. Sweet that it would be seven or eight weeks before he could resume work. He couldn't drive. He was idle eight weeks. He told Mrs. Geisheneu he didn't want to make any trouble, but as it was her chauffeur he thought she ought to pay his wages. She said the automobile was only a hired one; she did not own it. Mr. Nolan says Carter was not insolent to Mrs. Geisheneu and that the case against her was discontinued simply because she was not the owner of the automobile, but had only hired it.

CHILLY AND SNOWY.

Perhaps some people think the weather is not chilly. The thermometer does not begin to indicate how cold the northeast wind is; it seems to bite right through clothing and makes one feel that winter is not dead yet. Yesterday, while the Training Station band was waiting at the Station to attend the funeral of an apprentice, the instruments froze and it was necessary for the men to get into a warm place to thaw them out before the funeral began.

There was a quite determined effort toward a snowstorm this morning, but the results can not be seen now, and none of the snow melted, as the temperature has not been up to the thawing point today. The Providence line snow plow was in town today, but it was as a freight car and not as a snow plow.

JAMES F. MARDEN.

One week ago last Monday, Mr. James F. Marden, a well known business man, was seized with a chill at his store and went home at once, where a few days afterwards double pneumonia developed. He grew constantly worse and died at 1:20 o'clock this afternoon at his residence on Spring street. His wife, son and brother were with him at the end. Early in the day his son was summoned by his father, and at the request of the deceased closed his place of business in the Cottrell Block, Thames street.

Mr. Marden left his native home in Haverhill, N. H., in 1867, and came to Rhode Island, where he was employed by John D. Flint of Fall River to run a house-furnishing wagon in that city, Bristol, Middletown and Portsmouth. This venture was a financial success. Later Mr. Marden came to Newport and bought the late James H. Clarke's house-furnishing store on Thames street, which he owned up to the time of his death. Here, too, he prospered and built up a large trade.

He married a daughter of Rev. "Father" William Miller, a well known clergyman long resident in Portsmouth and well known here, and she survives. He leaves also one son, James F. Marden, Jr., two brothers, Sylvester Ward Marden, who came here in 1865 and has resided here since, and Dr. A. S. Marden of Newport, N. H., and two sisters Mrs. Mary Folsom and Mrs. Charles Kimball of North Haverhill, N. H.

In the death of Mr. Marden the Thames Street Methodist Episcopal Church with which he had been connected since he came to Newport, loses an active member a wise counsellor and an efficient officer. He was a man of quiet demeanor, unobtrusive, gentle and kind and a friend to all who knew him.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Fishing steamer Annie L. Wilcox is in, with another load of fertilizer for the Island farmers.

—Two automobiles for Mr. J. L. Van Alen, who has gone to Europe, have arrived from New York.

—C. H. Wrightington has rented for Mrs. Alonzo Harris her cottage on Heath court to Mrs. G. Hondin.

—Miantic Council, Degree of Pocahontas, had its regular whist and dancing entertainment last night.

—A. O'D. Taylor has rented for the Openshaw estate, the lower half of No. 1 Marlin street, corner of Prospect Hill street, to Mrs. Frederick Scholl.

—The lighthouses in this vicinity are being inspected by Lieutenant Commander Edes, U. S. N., assistant inspector of the Third lighthouse district.

—Billois & Eldridge have rented for Mrs. Julia B. Eldridge her cottage on the corner of Victoria and Ruggles avenues to George Rose of New York for the coming season.

—Among United States Hotel arrivals are R. Goldsmith, W. D. Todd and R. Sterling of New York, H. Boston, C. W. Higgins and H. Miller of Boston and D. H. Loffler of Hartford.

—A despatch from Norfolk, Va., says cruiser Columbia is expected in Hampton Roads tomorrow, to transfer 406 more apprentice seamen from the training station there to the naval station here.

—Owing to the death of Mr. James F. Marden the annual business meeting and supper of the Onward Society of the Thames Street Methodist Episcopal Church, of which Mrs. Marden is president, has been postponed.

—The Diggles house has at last been moved, in its three sections, from the corner of Bath road and Annandale road to its new location on the north side of Bath road. The linemen today are replacing the wires on Bath road which were taken down to allow the house to be moved.

—Next Monday evening Nell Burgess will present at the Opera House the new production of "The County Fair." Tuesday evening the J. J. Flynn Stock Company will play an engagement, and Wednesday evening the well known comedian, William H. Crane, will present his latest successful comedy, "The American Lord."

—Mr. Francis M. Sisson, clerk of the highway department, has presented to the city clerk, who has hung it in the city clerk's office, a copy of the resolutions passed by the City Council on the occasion of the death of Former City Clerk William G. Stevens. Mr. Sisson engrossed the resolutions at that time and the copy is a photographic reproduction.

—The advance agent of the Barnum & Bailey show, when here recently, said that no more elephants, large or small, will show on the Middleton Avenue lot, as that has been condemned by circus men. It is probable that the Barnum & Bailey show will exhibit on the Gladding lot on Third street, which is near the steam railroad and on the line of the street railway.

—At the first public discussion of the proposed new charter for Newport, under the auspices of the Citizens' Business Association, it is proposed to have present to speak a number of those who have been influential in drafting the proposed charter, and it is expected that a thorough idea will be given of the various benefits to be derived from such a change in the operation of the affairs of the municipal corporation.

RECOVERY DOUBTFUL.

Another Apprentice Seaman Has Spinal Meningitis.

Difficulties and Complications of the Problem of Handling the Disease.

Apprentice Seaman H. D. Holly of Plymouth, Ind., was taken sick with cerebro spinal meningitis at the Training Station yesterday afternoon and this noon is reported to be so seriously ill that recovery is not anticipated. Holly is one of the last draft brought from Norfolk and his illness developed two days after the last previous one. He was a member of the battalion housed in Barracks B, the same place where the previous case made its appearance, and which was free from the disease all through the epidemic. The boys in Barracks C, the newer barracks, which was placed in use after the old gymnasium building was abandoned, and was occupied by boys among whom several cases of the disease developed in the early part of the winter, have a clean bill of health, so that the ways of the disease continues to puzzle the medical authorities of the navy.

Aside from the seriousness of the disease, because of the inability apparently to prevent its spread, it is causing great inconvenience to the navy, for it is now necessary to hold boys at receiving stations to await a time when they can safely be sent here for training. On the other hand, there are at the Station a large number of young sailors who are ready for duty afloat but who cannot be sent to the ships while the station is infected. While there is thus a stagnation in the training system, the navy is in great need of seamen to man the various ships, and it had been hoped to some extent to meet this demand with boys graduated from the Station.

A case has made its appearance in the Providence schools which has caused considerable apprehension there, and finally yielding to public opinion the health authorities have caused the school building to be fumigated. At the Training Station fumigation and all other methods of eradicating the disease germs which seem to have signs of being efficient are being tried and the medical staff of the navy is giving the subject a great deal of consideration, yet has found no way as yet of effectively coping with it, either from original researches or from information obtained from other sources.

It is the hope that when it is possible to put the boys in camp for the summer, conditions will change although with the massing of the boys indoors another winter there is no telling what will be the results. There are some authorities who argue that the disease is bred by keeping large numbers of persons confined in comparatively small quarters, and refer to the conditions in the tenement districts of New York, where there is always more or less of the disease. It is hoped that before another winter a way may be found at the Station for building a number of detention pavilions, in which drafts may be split up into small numbers and seasoned as it were until they are declared to be free from lurking disease germs, before being merged in the general body of apprentices. At present the boys in the two barracks are kept entirely separated, and from past experience it is not expected that cases will develop among those in Barracks C.

...ity Bodes No Good to Railroad Rate Bill.

Proposition to Change Method of Electing Senators Will Not Get Far at This Session.

[Washington correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Although Congress has been in session more than three months the House of Representatives has not yet passed its joint resolution proposing to amend the constitution by having Senators elected by a direct vote of the people. "It is an oversight," said one of the older Senators, "for it is an evidence that the Senate has been conducting itself in a manner more satisfactory to the House than usual. Some morning when Uncle Joe is dissatisfied with the way we perform over here he will have the resolution passed and send it over to us." For many years the resolution has been passed unanimously and without debate by the House, but it does not even get a report in the Senate.

"Should the House pass such a resolution in this Congress," said Senator Burrows, chairman of the Senate committee on privileges and elections, "we will give them a very prompt report from this committee."

"A nice adverse report?" I asked.

"A nice adverse report," he replied.

And beyond a few speeches in the Senate that is as far as the proposition to change the method of electing Senators will get at this session.

When Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island is busy it means that something is going on, that there are "things doing" about the Senate, as one man puts it. Since the railroad rate bill was reported Aldrich has been very active, and the impression seems to be that this activity bodes no good to that most important measure. It is that most important measure. It is an old story that Aldrich goes about with chloroform bottle and administers a dose here and there to Senators. That is a Senate joke. But it is a fact that Aldrich is seen everywhere, on both sides of the chamber, in earnest conference with first one and then another Senator, and all the time those who watch him are convinced that he is urging amendments to the Hepburn bill. All the time he maintains a smiling countenance and shows not the least sign of defeat. To look at him one would think he was quite confident of success.

Representative Williams of Mississippi and Representative Gardner of Massachusetts were wrangling over free hides, and there was quite a give and take debate.

"Let's have a little experience meeting here," said Williams.

"A modus vivendi," said Champ Clark.

Gardner went on to say something about "the committee on rules, of which the gentleman from Mississippi is a member."

"Now really, nominally," interjected Williams.

"And sometimes invited to the meetings, I presume," continued Gardner.

"I am invited to the seances," replied Williams, "but never consulted about the spiritualistic appearances."

Williams went on to show how hard it was to get anything done looking to changing the tariff with the Republican leaders all arrayed against it.

"Then you do not think it a practical question?" asked Gardner.

"It is practical if you Republicans who say you are in favor of it would coerce your leaders."

"If the gentleman says it could be done," sneeringly remarked Gardner, "may I be excused for asking him if he believes in Santa Claus?"

"I do in a way," answered Williams, "and, I believe in it just as I believe in the New England fetich that the Republican party will revise the tariff."

All of these bright remarks were greeted with laughter and applause by the members of the House.

Senator Long had called up a bill, and Senator Kean demanded that the report be read. Senator Lodge suggested that as the report was very lengthy an explanation be made instead of consuming the time with the report. Long made the explanation, saying that it proposed that the town of Oklahoma might use $60,000 of the amount derived from the sale of lots for improvements in the town. "I hope," he concluded, with some show of sarcasm, "that this explanation will prove satisfactory to the Senator from New Jersey."

"The Senator from New Jersey," responded Kean, repeating the words he had reported, "has no objection whatever to the bill, but he thinks it is just as well when people are trying to get some money to have some explanation why it should be done."

"I am pleased to know," said Long, with fairness, "that my explanation is satisfactory to the Senator from New Jersey."

Senator Spooner wants his paper before any one else has read it. He wants his magazines uncut, and he will not read them after other people have been through them. It is said that duplicate copies of newspapers which other members of the family read are taken at the Spooner house, and the latest magazines are saved for him.

PATIENTS RESCUED.

BIDDEFORD, Me., March 14.—Seventeen patients of the Trull hospital, one of whom was upon the operating table, were rescued by prompt work of attendants and citizens today during a fire which gutted the upper story and attic of the three-story wooden structure. As this was the weekly clinic day, three patients were in readiness for operations, and one, Mrs. Carrie Spinney of Bath, was being operated upon. The operating room was in the third story. When the alarm was sounded Mrs. Spinney was removed to the reception room on the ground floor, and there the operation was completed while the firemen were working to save the building. To protect the patient and physicians from water leaking from the upper floors bedclothes were used the last five minutes of the operation. Dr. J. F. Trull, the superintendent, stated that the condition of the patient was favorable, and no ill effects were expected from the operation.

The fire, which is believed to have originated from crossed wires of high voltage in the attic, was discovered by the matron, Miss Lucy J. Potter, when she entered the upper hallway about 8:30 o'clock. It had gained such headway it was impossible for those in the building to stop it, and an alarm was sounded both in Biddeford and Saco. With lines from four engines the fire was confined to the upper story and attic, which were gutted. The damage, which is estimated at about $15,000, including that caused by water, is covered by insurance.

The attic was used as a storage room, the third floor was taken up by the operating room and a ward, and the second story was devoted to wards. On the ground floor are the offices, reception room, one ward, the kitchen and bath rooms.

The hospital was built in 1900 at a cost of $25,000, and is the only homeopathic hospital in Maine. It is located on one of the highest points of land in the city, and being of the old colonial style of the Georgian period attracted much attention. It is 59 by 48 feet, and had a capacity of 25 beds.

The damage was especially heavy on account of water which completely soaked the lower stories.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Miss Lizette G. Vose is visiting in Providence.

—Mrs. Ward of Newark, N. J., has been guest of Mrs. George Riggs for several days.

—A special car was run out over the Fall River road this morning, taking a jury for a view.

—Howard H. Sanford and Ella Sanford are visiting in Boston, where they will attend the automobile show.

—Mrs. William D. Sayer, who has been quite ill, has recovered in part and left for Providence today, to recuperate.

—Thomas F. Maher of New Bedford was arrested here yesterday for the larceny of $5 from the pockets of Thomas C. Furlong, at his boarding house. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs.

—At the union service of the four Protestant Episcopal churches at St. George's this evening the preacher will be Rev. John B. Dinan, principal of St. George's School, Middletown.

—Not having had an opportunity to put it to its intended use this winter, the Providence board's snow plow is now being used as a freight car, in connection with the work car, for hauling fertilizer for farms on the island.

—Mr. Patrick Nolan is expending a large sum upon his place of business on William street. A new front is to be added, the first floor has been lowered 18 inches and the building is to be brought out two feet. It will have three private offices and a new restaurant.

—The jersey theatre on Washington square has closed its doors. There has been objection to the place. It being alleged that some of the pictures were somewhat objectionable. As an enterprise the institution has not been the great attraction which similar shows are in other cities.

—Dr. Herman L. Duhring, in charge of the City Mission in Philadelphia, will preach at Trinity Church Sunday morning, and in the afternoon will address on the subject of missions the children of the four Protestant Episcopal Sunday Schools in the city. Dr. Duhring has done much to stimulate interest in the Lenten offering made yearly by "The Sunday School Auxiliary to the Board of Missions."

—Articles for the incorporation of the Edward A. Brown Company of Newport were filed with the secretary of state yesterday. The incorporators are Edward A. Brown of Middletown and Thomas J. Murphy and Margaret Carroll of Newport. The company is to transact a market, grocery and general cold storage business. Mr. Murphy and Miss Carroll have been employes of Mr. Brown at his Thames Street market for many years.

—The Men's Association of the First Presbyterian Church held its first social in the vestry last evening, and it was a great success for such a young organization. There was a large attendance and a pleasing program was rendered. Vocal solos were given by Miss Gosling and Mr. Carl Stone, Miss Jessamine Chase gave a violin solo and speeches were made on the work of the organization by Messrs. John P. Sanborn, W. K. R. Holm and Daniel Morrison. During the evening refreshments were served.

Eat What You Like.

Don't Starve or Diet, but Use Mi-o-na, and Cure Your Stomach Troubles.

The average treatment of stomach troubles consists of a rigid diet list, which often half starves the patient. Of course it would be foolish for anyone who knows that some foods are positively harmful and poisonous to continue eating them, even while following the Mi-o-na treatment, but in ordinary cases of stomach troubles it is not necessary to starve or diet if Mi-o-na is faithfully used, a tablet before each meal.

This scientific remedy, for the cure of stomach troubles, acts upon the whole digestive system, and strengthens the organs so that they are able to digest any food that is eaten without fear of distress.

Wright & Hay have so much confidence in the power of Mi-o-na to cure stomach troubles and resulting ills, that they give a guarantee with every 50 cent box to refund the money unless it cures.

NOT TO FORCE CHANGES.

Simplified Spelling Board to Begin Campaign of Education.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Professor Brander Matthews, head of the board of educators which has been formed to introduce changes in spelling, expressed himself yesterday to his classes in Columbia as pleased with the way the announcement had been received. He said he had expected that the board would be met by a storm of criticism and dissent. Professor Matthews said that it is an atrocious inconsistency that the most practical people in the world should have the worst spelling.

"We may not do a great deal," he added, "but at any rate we will have the dictionaries on our side, and will be able to change them."

Dr. Charles P. G. Scott, temporary secretary of the simplified spelling board, believes that the way to regulate "spelling"—for that is the word he uses—is by a campaign of education rather than by forcing changes on the public.

"Some agency has been needed to check the continuing error in our spelling," he said yesterday. "We hope that our board will prove to be this agency. We should place spelling on the same plane with everything else. We alter our houses, our clothes, and we even change our religion. Spelling is no more sacred than religion that we should go on year after year with the old puzzling forms.

"We want to take the English language and regulate and simplify it and remove the anomalies. We think it wrong to teaching the perverse spelling that addles the brains of the children. We expect in time to spell 'definite' without the e, 'philosophy' with two f's and in general to do away with the ph's and ghs that worry children."

DERRICK STRUCK SCAFFOLDING.

Two Men Precipitated to the Ground, One Instantly Killed.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—By the falling of a derrick used in the construction of an addition which is being made to the Raleigh Hotel, David Hammond was killed outright today and three other men were injured, one fatally.

The boom of the derrick broke loose from its fastenings, and in its descent struck a scaffolding suspended from the side of the building, about 55 feet from the ground, wrecking it and precipitating Hammond and a man named W. Schlah who were at work on it to the pavement below. Hammond was instantly killed. Schlah was taken to the hospital, where it was found that his back, collar bone and a number of ribs were broken. Later he died. Two other men who were near the derrick were seriously injured.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Is Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpicide.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it with Cocoanutoles, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.

It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

MRS. DOWIE DENIES REPORTS.

Says There is No Estrangement Between Herself and Husband.

CHICAGO, March 14.—Mrs. John Alexander Dowie, in an interview yesterday, according to the Chronicle, denies that there has been any estrangement between herself and Mr. Dowie. She was much affected by the published reports, declaring that there was no foundation whatever for them. Her separation from her husband, she said, was due entirely to his impaired health and to no domestic troubles.

Asked if it were true that she had decided to cast her lot with Dowie's followers in Zion City she replied: "I have cast my lot with John Alexander and shall remain faithful to him to the end."

HOW'S YOUR STOMACH?

Wm. H. Cotton Has a Remedy Which He Guarantees to Cure the Worst Cases of Stomach Troubles.

I wish to tell the readers of this paper about a remedy for Dyspepsia, which is a marvel in medicine. It cures the worst cases, from the acute attack of indigestion to chronic dyspepsia. This remedy is known as Alberts' Little Dinner Pill, being the prescription of Dr. Hutchinson, the noted specialist of London and Brighton, England, who prevalues to his decease had built up a remarkable practice as a specialist in diseases of the stomach. Dr. Hutchinson claimed that his success was due to the use of this pill, and since its introduction on the American continent it has performed wonderful cures.

Mr. J. H. Lombard, Calco, Me., writes: "I am now past 81 years of age and have had stomach trouble practically all my life. I sent and got a sample package of Albert's Little Dinner Pill, thinking that it would turn out to be one more disappointment, but from the first dose I found relief, and can say that I am now better than ever before in my life. It is a wonderful cure for Dyspepsia and I heartily recommend it to all sufferers from Stomach trouble."

Alberts' Little Dinner Pill contains no Physic, no Acid, Alkali, Ginger, Pepsin, Pancreatin, Soda, Morphine or any preparation of Opium, or in fact any of the ingredients usually found in so-called Dyspepsia cures. It cures by removing the cause and makes the worst cases well, being guaranteed to benefit or the purchase price returned. Sold at drug stores or by mail, 25 cents per package. Samples free. Address Albert Chemical Co., Boston, Mass. Sold and guaranteed by WM. H. COTTON, 226 Thames St.

Ryan-Belmont Railway Merger in New York to be Investigated.

NEW YORK, March 14.—A special to the Herald from Buffalo says: State Railroad Commissioners George W. Dunn and Joseph L. Dickey, who are here listening to the protest against the application of the Buffalo Frontier Terminal Railroad Company, stated that an investigation would be started in this city today on the charge that in the bringing about of the Ryan-Belmont street, elevated and subway roads merger in New York, $3,000,000 was diverted.

Commissioner Dunn, when questioned yesterday, said: "I am almost ignorant of that matter. There was a charge made that a large sum of money had been diverted and the board will investigate that charge. The secretary of the board has left New York with all the papers in the case, and an investigation was the outcome of a complaint morning. Then I shall have some information."

Commissioner Dickey was also seen later in the evening, and said that the matter was one involving the Ryan-Belmont merger and that the investigation was the outcome of a complaint made to the attorney general.

"We have been advised by the attorney general that the charge was one within the province of the board of railroad commissioners," said Mr. Dickey. "It was referred to him, and he made a cursory examination, and saw that the matter was within our jurisdiction. He referred it to us for a complete examination and one will be started tomorrow.

"Secretary Kennedy has been reached by wire. He has been told to come to Buffalo, bringing all the papers in the case with him. He will arrive early tomorrow, and we shall at 9:15 in the morning go into session on that case. There will be plenty of information available at that time, and everybody will be welcome to it."

TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK.

Attorney General to Have Charge of Ryan-Belmont Investigation.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 14.—The state railroad commissioners today considered charges in connection with the Ryan-Belmont merger, and on adjournment announced that they had decided to make an investigation and will ask the attorney general to take charge of it. The investigation will be held in Albany, beginning next Wednesday.

PART OF FORCE RETURNS.

Peacedale Company Will Not Exceed to Strikers' Demands.

PEACEDALE, March 14.—About three quarters of the force of the Peacedale Manufacturing Company, numbering between 400 and 500 hands, returned to work today, the weavers having released them from any obligation to remain out longer in sympathy. In a statement today the company says they will not accede to the strikers' demands. The offer of their old places if they would return at noon today was made, but if not, it was stated that after that time they would be re-employed only as individuals, and under new schedules.

A DANGEROUS DERELICT.

With Decks Awash, Drifting in the Path of Steamers.

BOSTON, March 14.—The wreck of a large vessel, drifting with decks barely awash directly in the path of steamers from Europe, was reported by Captain Ellis of steamer Barnesmore, which arrived today from Fayal. The derelict appeared to be a large schooner and was in latitude 45.55 north and longitude 38.23 west. Her bulwarks projected out of the water, with about eight feet of her foremast and eight feet of her mainmast.

The Barnesmore reports having a boisterous passage almost all the way across, gales from the west and head seas delaying her progress.

REPORTED ABANDONED AT SEA.

Fears Entertained for Safety of Maine Schooner and Crew.

THOMASTON, Me., March 14.—Grave fears are entertained for the safety of Captain Thomas Chadwick of Port Clyde, Me., and crew of five men of three-masted schooner Jesse W. Starr, which was reported abandoned at sea two weeks ago by steamer El Dia on her arrival at New York, March 5. The schooner when seen was dismasted and waterlogged, with a boat trailing at the stern, and there was no trace of the crew. She was bound from Norfolk to New York with lumber.

Dresser & Elliott Company of Thomaston have received a letter from Cyrus W. Chadwick, a brother of Captain Chadwick and member of the firm of C. W. Chadwick & Co., New York, principal owners of the Starr, stating that no word has been received from any of the crew. There is a chance that they were taken off by a passing steamer or sailing vessel bound to a foreign port. Captain Chadwick is about 65 years old, and has a wife and five children at Port Clyde.

The Jesse W. Starr was built at Milford, Conn., in 1874, and was 307 gross tonnage and 128 feet long. Her home port was Tuckerton, N. J. The cargo was valued at $9,000. The schooner was valued at $7,000 and was not insured.

CHINESE COMMISSIONERS SAIL.

Deeply Impressed With Friendly Attitude of American People.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Prince Tsai Tse, High Commissioner Shang Shi Heng and Licheng To, envoys of the Emperor of China, their secretaries and attaches sailed on White Star Liner Baltic this morning to continue their investigations in England, France and Belgium. The prince said before sailing:

"I have greatly enjoyed my visit to this country and the uniform courtesy that has been accorded me, including the reception by President Roosevelt, has deeply impressed me with the friendly attitude of the American people. I believe that such contact makes for a better understanding, and must bring benefit to both our peoples."

The following statement was made by one of the secretaries of the commission just before the Baltic sailed:

"We have been making a comprehensive study of the political situation in this country and have seen the application of your laws and the workings of the governing bodies. I believe that China will soon have a constitutional government. It will probably be modelled very much on the lines of the English constitution, but will still contain some of the good features of your own constitution."

RIDE THROUGH TUNNELS.

Mayor Dunne and Party Make Tour of Underground Car Routes.

CHICAGO, March 14.—Mayor Dunne and a party of city officials were whirled through the tunnels under Chicago's down-town streets yesterday at a rate that almost took their breath away and left them impressed with the vastness of the network of subways that has been increasing until now there are 45 miles of underground railroad.

Entering through the main office of the company at 177 Monroe street, the party stepped into a "lift," and took seats in a car fashioned after the manner of European railroad coaches. The "lift" dropped 42 feet, and the car in which the visitors were seated much to their surprise, was coupled to an electric locomotive, looking something like an automobile, and operated after the manner of the miniature railways in the pleasure parks.

The car held 10 men. Sitting upright, their heads almost touched the trolley wire which gave the power to the motor. To the clanging of bells and the signals of switchmen down the tracks the train started, and during the run covered practically all the new lines.

Price of Gasoline Advanced.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 14.—The Standard Oil Company today advanced the price of gasoline ½ cent per gallon. Deodorized stove gasoline is now quoted at 12½ cents per gallon, 74 to 76 degrees gasoline 14½ and varnish makers and painters' naphtha 11½ cents.

CONSPIRACY OF COURT PARTY.

The police prefect, M. Von Der Launitz, was asked to explain how it happened that the publication of the proclamation calling for the extermination of the Jews was printed in the official printing office attached to his department. The prefect denied having any personal knowledge of the printing. However, it is established that there is constantly accumulating evidence that the plot to produce a counter-revolution in the hope of sweeping away the reforms outlined in the manifesto of October 30 had its origin in the court cabal. The conspiracy includes General Trepoff, commandant of the palace; General Count Ignatieff, M. Stichinsky, former chief adjutant of the interior department; Count Sheremetieff, a noted reactionary, and General Prince Putiatin, who are said to be utterly reckless of the consequences.

The plan is to provoke riots and massacres of Jews and revolutionists over as wide an area as possible, in order to justify still more terrible repressions and thereby prove to His Majesty that the people are not ripe for any sort of self-government. It is a desperate game, but it is backed by many of the provincial authorities, and the support of the governor generals has been enlisted, the former using the police and the latter the troops, among whom proclamations against the Jews and revolutionists, which are understood to have been printed at the army headquarters in Odessa, have been distributed. The complicity of Interior Minister Durnovo in the conspiracy is not proved, although suspected. Premier Witte and the liberal section of the cabinet will be compelled to fight the conspiracy, and consequently a break in the ministry is not regarded as improbable.

It is understood that 50,000 members of the "Black Hundreds" in St. Petersburg are armed, but it is not believed, in view of the warnings they have received, that the conspirators will attempt to provoke a massacre at the capital.

The authorities here, however, are in sympathy with the conspirators, and the danger of an outbreak about Easter is regarded as very real.

In the meantime, on the other side the proletariat organizations, which were ruthlessly crushed by the government's repressive measures, are trying to organize another general strike. Negotiations are proceeding with the telegraph and railroad employes, whose co-operation is regarded as vital to this end. The socialists of Finland have promised their support. Some rioting has already occurred at Moscow and in the vicinity.

The Strana (country) says that M. Durnovo has telegraphed to the governors of 10 provinces in Poland not to proclaim the elections until further orders.

OFFICERS RESIGN IN A BODY.

Russian Regiment Received Orders to go to Baltic Provinces.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 14.—The rumor that the officers of a regiment of the guards had met and resigned in a body, upon receiving orders recently to go to the Baltic provinces and participate in the pacification of the country, was confirmed today. The officers belonged to the First regiment of artillery of the guards.

TIME LOAN GRANTED.

Losses from Agrarian Disturbance Exceed $155,000,000.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 14.—The reports of the special commissions which investigated in 19 provinces the Agrarian disturbance which occurred last year, show that the losses exceeded $155,000,000. The government has practically decided to grant to the landlords a time loan, without interest, amounting to a third of the losses.

CHINAMEN BEHEADED.

CANTON, March 14.—The leader of the rebels of Kwang Si province and three others who were implicated in the attack on the house of Rev. Dr. Andrew Beattie, the American missionary at Fati, in February, were beheaded March 12.

Great Rush for Canton-Hankow Shares.

CANTON, March 14.—The rush of applicants for shares of the Canton-Hankow railway issued today was so great that the streets were blocked with Chinese and soldiers were called out to maintain order.

Opening of Re-Modelled Church.

BRISTOL, Vt., March 14.—The opening of the re-modelled Methodist Episcopal Church here today was marked by exercises lasting throughout the day. After the administration of the Holy Communion addresses were delivered by the pastor, Rev. G. C. Skaife, and Presiding Elder Dow of the Burlington district and a sermon was preached by Rev. H. W. Brown, D. D.

Burning Brush Thought to be Boat on Fire.

NEW LONDON, Conn., March 14.—It was learned today that the bright light which was seen last night from here, and which was believed to be a boat afire, was caused by burning brush off Fisher's Island. Steamer Maine, which arrived from New York early today, reported having seen the fire.

NEW YORK, March 14. Wall Street—The stock market opened firm, with Amalgamated Copper at 108⅝, American Smelting 161½, Anaconda 27½, Atchison 94, Brooklyn Transit 55⅝, Colorado Fuel and Iron 65⅞, Erie 43¾, Louisville 149½, Missouri Pacific 100½, New York Central 148, Norfolk & Western 87⅞, Northern Pacific 220, Pennsylvania 138½, Reading 128, Rock Island 27½, Sugar 140¾, St. Paul 176⅝, Southern Railway 41¾, Southern Pacific 67¼, Union Pacific 152⅝, United States Steel 41¼, United States Steel preferred 106, Wabash preferred 31⅝.

10—First prices in the stock market today were a fraction higher than last night. Trading was quiet and the volume of transactions small. Gains in excess of a half were in General Electric, Colorado Fuel, Cotton Oil and Anaconda. Chicago Union Traction ran off 1⅝.

11.—Speculative ventures were largely limited to stocks which for one reason or another were good mediums for professional operations. Among these were the coal, Southern and Hill groups of railroads and certain specialties. Moderate profit-taking and some room-selling on the view that liquidation in Chicago Union Traction later forced the market backward.

Noon—Money on call, steady, at 4½ per cent; prime mercantile paper, 5 @ 5½ per cent. Illinois Central rose 3 after the general list had lost its upward impulse. Ontario & Western gained 1¼, National Railroad of Mexico preferred and American Ice 1 and Chicago Union Traction preferred railroad ¾. The average price level receded below last night in the second hour. Varying operations of room traders were all there was to the market. Bonds were steady.

ACHED IN EVERY BONE.

Chicago Society Woman Who Was So Sick She Could Not Sleep or Eat, Cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

When a woman's kidneys go wrong her back gives out and every little task becomes a burden. She is tired, nervous, sleepless, run down—suffers daily from backache, headaches, dizzy spells, and bearing-down pains.

Don't worry over imagined "female troubles." Cure the kidneys and you will be well. Read how to find the cure.

Marion Knight, of 33 N. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill., member of the Chicago Federation of Musicians and a well-known club woman, says: "This winter when I started to use Doan's Kidney Pills I ached in every bone and had intense pains in the kidneys and pelvic organs. The urine was thick and cloudy, and I could hardly eat enough to live. I felt a change for the better within a week. The second week I began eating heartily. I began to improve generally, and before seven weeks had passed I was well. I had spent hundreds of dollars for medicine that did not help me, but $6 worth of Doan's Kidney Pills restored me to perfect health."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Miss Knight will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

"THE SHORT STORY."

Admirable Paper on the Subject by Miss M. Theodora Taylor at the Unity Club.

Miss M. Theodora Taylor was in charge of the study evening at the Unity Club last night, her subject being "The Short Story," which is probably at present the most numerous form of fiction, being indulged in by both known and unknown writers. The short story was, however, not invented by Americans, but is as old as Jann Shimeli. Stories in the form of anecdotes were known to the Greeks and Romans. Chaucer and Boccaccio wrote fascinating tales, also, but there is little similarity between these and the modern story, which sprang up in France and America 60 or 70 years ago. The English and French stories are not as good as ours, which doubtless owe their origin to Dickens. He wrote the Christmas stories and from these we wrote the Thanksgiving stories.

The novel and the short story have nothing in common except the fact that they are both fiction. The writers of long stories are not usually successful with short stories, and the short story writer often cannot write long stories. There is no need of apology for the American short story, which, as Miss Taylor well said, is "fitted to crown the brow of the youthful goddess of American literature." As a whole, women's short stories are better in style and workmanship than men's, among the well-known short story writers being Alice Brown, Margaret Deland, Mrs. Wharton, Miss Charlotte P. Hopkinson Smith, Booth Tarkington, Ellis Higginson and Sarah Orne Jewett.

The short story should be more than a long story that is shortened and should be not a novel in the abstract. It should not be visibly instructive and should not be all dramatic. It may be a sustained study of character of a quiet period of the simple lives of the poor, in fact, any short imaginative work in prose, with or without a plot. The short story should impress the reader only and should be thought more because of its brevity is superior to the novel in literary merit. Formerly the short story was longer than it is today, the present writers' stories being rather too brief. In concluding her admirable paper, Miss Taylor gave an abstract of Miss Mary Wilkins's "A Humble Romance."

Miss Taylor's paper was illustrated by Miss Sarah Orne Jewett's "The Queen's Twin," part of which was read by Miss Emily Bradley. Mr. A. Lee Taylor read parts of Booth Tarkington's "Boss Gorgett" and the second reading was brought to a close by Miss Ella Higginson's "Eating Fourth," read by Mrs. Harry Wilks. The paper of the evening was discussed by President Frank M. Spencer, Rev. William Jones, Mr. H. W. Lord, Dr. A. P. Squire and Mr. A. Lee Taylor.

WILLIAM ELLERY CHAPTER.

Miss Susan W. Sellaburne entertained William Ellery Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at her home on Rhode Island Tuesday evening. The floral decorations were bouquets of pinks on mantels and tables, and a number of large flags were effectively placed in the different rooms.

Mrs. W. P. Pinniger, the regent, presided over the large number present and a considerable amount of business of importance was transacted, one feature of which was the voting of $50 to purchase a font of glass basins for "the Parish Church," the usual place of worship of George Washington and family, which has fallen into decay. By the energetic measures taken for the restoration by the late Mrs. William Anson of Providence the various chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution have become interested in the matter and are devoting much time and money in its behalf.

The paper of the evening was by Mrs. Benjamin C. Sherman on "Puritan Governors" and was interspersed with amusing anecdotes.

Miss Clara E. Dennis, chairman of the prize essay committee, announced as the subject selected by the committee—Mrs. Dennis, Mrs. Asa B. Converse and Mrs. John P. Sanborn—for competition by pupils of the Rogers High School for which the chapter will give a prize of $10 in gold, "Operations of Japan in Foreigners by the United States Navy."

Ice cream, cake and confectionery were served by the hostess, and after a social time a game of picture identification excited much interest.

It was announced that a thimble party will be held at Miss Elizabeth Sweetburne's Friday afternoon.

PAY DAY AT THE REPAIR SHOP.

There was a lively time this noon at the repair shop, when just before 12 the bell rang and the men streamed out to the pay car. Here swarming were not in it with the swarm of men who in a very few seconds were about the pay car waiting for their turn to pass the paymaster and receive their money. There is a big gang at work at the shops now, and the treasury of the New England Navigation Company and of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company was considerably lighter when the pay car rolled out this afternoon than it was when it arrived.

FREAKS OF VESUVIUS.

Hardon Bible!

Though the back of Vesuvius is, in one sense, happily, much worse than its face, the spasmodic ebullitions of the volcano like a child's tantrums, can cause much discomfort and some perturbation. The present eruption has even succeeded in doing some little damage to the Circular railway. Great exertions had been made to protect the line against the lava streams by covering them with deep layers of sand, but the terrible heat of the molten material fairly burned through everything. The stream of boiling liquid was fifty yards wide, and it flowed in a northerly course, where its progress was temporarily stopped by a deep gully, only, of course, to be resumed with greater impetuosity as this in its turn overflowed.

OLD ADVERTISEMENTS.

Quaint Business Announcements of Seventy Years Ago.

The News has an opportunity to give its readers the pleasure of sharing in some interesting glimpses into old Newport, caught from a well preserved copy of the Herald of the Times published in Newport Thursday morning, October 3, 1839. So interesting is the old paper that the temptation is to start in and copy by the column. It was published (as probably thousands of people don't know) by the late James Atkinson, "editor and proprietor," weekly, the office being at "150 Thames street, at the head of the court, in rear of Messrs. E. F. & W. Newton's, directly opposite its former location," and the "terms" were "$2 in advance, or $2.25 at the end of the year. Single copy, six cents." This number is Vol. X, No 28, and the paper's motto was Webster's "Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable."

The first column starts off with legal notices, and the first of these is a probate notice from Portsmouth, setting forth that John Cory, Samuel Clark and Isaac S. Cory, having been appointed commissioners to receive and examine claims against the estate of Abby A. Earle, give notice that their commission has been extended three months, which time is allowed creditors "of said estate, to exhibit their claims against the same at their respective dwellings, and that Tuesday, the 9th of December, at 9 o'clock, a. m., at the inn of Oliver D. Greene, Esq., in said Portsmouth, is appointed to the purpose of examining claims. Stephen B. Carwell was administrator on the estate.

Then comes a Newport assignee's notice, in which Dr. C. Denham, "having been appointed by the Supreme Judicial Court at its August term, 1839, assignee of Seth C. Bradford, of Newport," carpenter, to whom the benefit of the Insolvent Act of 1828 was granted, gives notice that six months "is allowed by said Court" to bring in claims.

Then naturally enough follows a strictly literary advertisement, in which, starting off with the date "Sept. 5," James Hammond's circulating library occupies something less than a half of this first column of the front page. The advertisement is embellished with a cut of an open volume and gives a list of new books recently added. The first of these (No. 2826) is "Salomon Seesaw." By Robertson, senior author of letters on Paraguay, 2 Vols. Then there is "Undine, a infatuative romance, from the German of Baron de la Motte Fouque 1 Vol." (Quite a modern sounding announcement.) Then there is "Hyperion, a romance, by the author of Outre Mer, 2 Vols." Then another word that might be thought more modern starts off a long title "Tinge and Phenisiars of India, comprising a history of the rise and progress of that extraordinary fraternity of assassins, and a description of the system which it pursues, and of the measures which have been adopted by the supreme government of India, for its suppression, by Captain W. H. Sleeman, superintendent of the Thug police, 2 Vols." The library is advertised to contain 2,000 volumes of history, travels and miscellaneous works, and 3,000 volumes of "Novels—Tales and Romances." Annual subscribers pay $2 in advance.

In this same column is an "ad" dated August 1, in which John F. Townsend announces Hosiery, the assortment comprising superior English black silk hose, superior heavy and good size Italian do, short ribbed black do, best black Marseilles cotton do," black Cashmere and white and unbleached cotton.

The next column starts out with what would puzzle almost anybody nowadays, "Mason's Patent Cylindrical Dyer." There is a cut that hardly suggests an aeroplane or other air invading device, and by reading a lot of very fine print it is learned that this "dyer" is in the cotton spinning business. It is of interest to see that 3,000 of these "are now running in the Mill of the Coddington Manufacturing Company, in Newport, R. I." Samuel P. Mason of Newport will give information and a table follows showing how much less power this "dyer" uses up than other kinds require.

Then appears the announcement of the Mill Street Academy, and this should interest everybody, for Newport has always been a place of such institutions. This one was to open October 31, under the management of "J. N. Bellows, Principal," and the "ad" is dated July 25, 1839, showing that he believed in announcing in good season. He says the "female department will have the services of a lady, Miss Hopkins, educated for the profession of Teacher, in the justly celebrated school of Mr. E. Bailey of Boston, and who, besides her other qualifications, has a good knowledge of the French language. Pupils will be received at any age, and instruction will be furnished in all the branches of an English and classical education." Perhaps the most interesting part of the "ad" follows: "We, the subscribers, consent to serve as Trustees of Mill Street Academy, and to have a general supervision of the interests and concerns of the institution.

"Hon. Enos. Wm. C. Gibbs, T. C. Dunn, William Vernon, A. Henry Dumont, Charles T. Brooks, Joshua Sayer, James Hammond, Robert Stevens, Samuel St. John."

Then came James Hammond's rich and elegant French and other paper hangings, "the Largest Variety and Cheapest Lot Ever Before Had." And then—a marvelous "ad"—"Barrett's Old Malden Dye House, 35 Cornhill, Corner of Franklin Avenue, Boston," where 24 years of experience give the best dyeing of broadcloths, satins, lustrings, plush, silk and cotton velvets, camel's hair, shawls, hosiry and gloves, and ladies' and gentlemen's garments; also "cleanses and glazes Furniture, cleanses Garments, Carpets, Bed Blankets, etc. Pulls, Shears, Dyes and Dresses," broadcloth, etc., mildews and stains removed, dye woods rasped and ground and medicines pulverized, silks and silk dresses watered in the best manner, plain silks, satins and velvets dyed and embossed in beautiful style and—Newport item of interest—Mr. R. B. Kinsley, agent at Newport.

Now comes a real Newport style, headed in fancy type

Free Trade and no Monopoly!
ICE CREAM
of the first quality.

The subscriber has rooms over his store where Ladies and Gentlemen can be accommodated with ice cream and other refreshments. Families supplied, etc. T. Stacy, Jr.

Mrs. A. M. Eddy, "next north of Carpet Factory," has "carnation and Victoria combs just received with every other variety."

A considerable space is given to the lottery business. Details are given of an Unexampled Mammoth Scheme, unparalleled in the history of lotteries. "It is true there are many blanks, but on the other hand, extremely low charge of $20 per ticket," etc., will give universal satisfaction, "especially to the Six Hundred Prize Holders."

The legislating in one state for schemes in another section is not new. It seems for the "grand real estate and bank-stock lottery of property situated in New Orleans" is authorized by an act of the "legislative assembly of Florida," and is to be drawn at Jacksonville, Florida. The first prize was "The Arcade," rented for $37,000 per annum and valued at $700,000; the next, the City Hotel, valued at $500,000; the next four or five were dwelling houses valued at $20,000 each. Then there were prizes of a few hundred shares each of bank stock.

It seems T. Stacy, Jr., had cause to advertise in large letters and claim excellence equal to any other manufacture "in the place." A little longer "ad" than his seeks to gain public favor, even outside of Newport, for "Kenyon" had "thrown his doors open, notwithstanding his arrangement is not yet completed, and respectfully invites the ladies and gentlemen of Newport and vicinity to look into his rooms, examine and taste a glass of his Ice Creams, calves foot Jelly, dish of scalloped Oysters, wing of a Hyatt, or if they won't do, a glass of his high charged Soda Water." "Wedding Cakes made to order." This "ad" and Stacy's bear the same date, May 9, 1839; could it be there was a canvasser or "ads" working one against the other?

EXCELLENT BOWLING BY TEAMS 4 AND 6.

The match in the Young Men's Christian Association bowling tournament last evening, between teams Nos. 4 and 6, developed excellent bowling on all sides. Team No. 4, which won two of three strings, came within 10 pins of the record for the winter in total pin fall, and team No. 6 made over 1,300. No records were broken, but four players made better than an average of 90 pins a string. Vietry was high roller, with a single of 105 and a total of 252. Christian also made 105, Marley 96 and 99, Arnold 95, Griffith 94, Martin 91, and Johnson made three successive strings of 93, 94 and 92, an average of 93. The individual and team scores were as follows:

Team No. 4.
Vietry,	105	83	93	—281
Brownell,	77	77	84	—238
Johnson,	93	84	92	—269

ALGONKIN SECOND INTERMEDIATES WIN.

At the Algonkin hall last night the Algonkin Second Intermediate team defeated the Atlantics, 36 to 11. The home team led in both halves, 24 to 5 in the first half and 12 to 6 in the second, when the visitors did some fast playing to redeem themselves. The line-up:

Algonkins.	Atlantics.
Dawley, l. f.	l. f., Carroll
Underwood, r. f.	r. f., Kerins
Shepley, c.	c., Ray
Brierley, l. b.	l. b., Hallock
Lord, r. b.	r. b., Kain

Score—Algonkin 36; Atlantic 11. Baskets—Dawley 5, Underwood 9, Shepley 3, Lord 1; Carroll 1, Kerins 4, Ray 1, Hallock 1.

There promises to be something of interest tonight when the East Boston Evening High School team appears. The visitors are considered to be a fast team, in East Boston, and the Reserves on their trip away lost, 19 to 12. The East Boston team will come on a special train and will leave after the game. It is expected that from 125 to 150 East Boston men will accompany the team. The Reserves' team will be made up as in the past two games.

DIRECTORS RE-ELECTED.

Annual Choice of Members of the Corporation and Officers of the Y. M. C. A.

The corporation of the Newport Young Men's Christian Association held its postponed annual meeting yesterday afternoon at the rooms of the Association on Mary street. On recommendation of the nominating committee the following members of the corporation were elected: A. Russell Manchester, Richard Bullock, J. Alton Barker, Harry A. Titus, Frow B. Garnett, Thomas G. Brown, Herbert Bliss, Howard G. Ward, William Andrews, George W. Sherman, Dr. Douglas P. A. Jacoby, John C. Seabury, Benjamin C. Groff, Harold R. Chase, Albert F. Hass, W. W. Farnum, Hugh

THOMAS P. PECKHAM.
Re-elected President of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Miller, Thomas B. Tanner, William A. Ogilvie, Harry C. Christian, Charles L. Adams and Alexander MacLellan.

The committee also recommended the re-election of the present board of directors, and the corporation unanimously approved the report, the list being Thomas P. Peckham, William B. Franklin, Frederick Weir, Albert K. Sherman, Charles D. Martin, Angus McLeod, Peter King, Ralph R. Barker, Albert W. Luther, Jeremiah W. Horton, William J. Cozzens, William H. Arnold, Daniel Morrison, Rev. E. H. Porter, D. D., George H. Bryant, Charles D. Martin, Edward Griffith, Robert S. Burlingame, Walter S. Langley, Roland J. Easton and Winfield S. Sisson.

The committee also recommended the re-election of Thomas P. Peckham as president and Charles D. Martin as recording secretary.

A notice was given of a proposed amendment to the by-laws, which will allow the election of 25 instead of 20 directors. The amendment will be acted upon at the next meeting of the corporation.

President—Thomas P. Peckham.

First Vice President—William B. Franklin.

Second Vice President—Frederick Weir.

Treasurer—Albert K. Sherman.

Recording Secretary—Charles D. Martin.

General Secretary—A. H. Dutnum.

THE QUESTION OF FISH SHIPMENTS.

Some of the fish shippers met yesterday to listen to certain propositions in relation to the shipping of fish which the representatives of the Enterprise line of steamers had to offer. It was not a full meeting—that is, all the shippers were not present—but it was a representative gathering and the Enterprise company presented a proposition in regard to shipping fish for New York over its line which seemed quite favorable to the fishermen. No definite action was taken, but another meeting will be held next week, when more shippers will be present and the matter will again be considered.

If the Enterprise boats are used the fish will be shipped at Jamestown, but it is as easy for the fish boats to run into Jamestown as to come to Long wharf. For years there have been complaints that the Fall River line has not done what is right by the fish shippers.

"STRONGHEART'S" SUCCESS.

Those who went to the Opera House last evening to see Robert Edeson in William C. DeMille's comedy-drama, "Strongheart"—and they filled the theatre to its utmost capacity—were well repaid by the excellent performance. "Strongheart" is a play at once effective and entertaining—a comedy and a drama which is almost a tragedy in its denouement. Its theme is a powerful development of the race prejudice of the whites against the Indian and the Indian's prejudice against the whites, and the final decision of Strongheart to do what is right for his people, to the sacrifice of his own love, is intensely dramatic. The interest in the development of the plot does not once lag, and the final tableaux, when the Indian alone on the stage lifts high his arms in one of the grand gestures of a primitive people, and moans "Great Spirit of my Father, I call to you for help, for I am in the midst of a great desert—alone!" is a fitting climax to the strong scenes which have immediately preceded it.

The play does not lack in comedy elements of an enjoyable character. It opens with a scene in a college boy's room and gives a picture of college life which bubbles over with youth and spontaneous fun. The second act shows the training quarters, between the halves of the football game, and the play here takes on more of its serious nature. In the third and fourth the dramatic action gives place to the comedy element, but the interest increases steadily to the end. It is one of the strongest plays which has been presented in Newport recently and impresses those who see it as a helpful as well as an enjoyable story.

The cast was good. Robert Edeson as Strongheart, the Indian, gave to the character a manly interpretation which impressed itself upon the audience. In the second act, where he describes the play of the football game, one almost sees the progress of the game, and in the third and fourth he rises far beyond the ordinary and makes the character stand out in unmistakable form. He is not the actor, but the Indian, and makes an indescribable impression upon those who see him. Throughout the more intense scenes, he rises to the occasion, never giving a suspicion of ranting and always appearing natural. It was a consistent portrayal throughout.

The support also deserves its full need of praise. The several collegians were capitally portrayed by Messrs. Ford, Sterling, Todd, Ainsworth, Bonn and Green. Special mention is due Frank J. McIntyre, who as Billy Saunders was a favorite with every one, and Ira Hards, who was capital as Buckley the head coach, and later forcible and dramatic as Black Eagle. Mary Roland as Dorothy Nelson, whom Strongheart loved, had a trying part, but fully satisfied the audience and was particularly pleasing in the later scenes. Louise Drew in the ingenue part of Molly Livingstone was also pleasing and her scenes with "Billy" were greatly enjoyed. The other women characters, although of little moment in the development of the story, were in capable hands.

THE LAPPIN STORE.

PEACE DISTURBS US!
We Must Keep Busy!
HERE'S HOW WE DO IT.

Dressing Sacques

Fine flannelette, splendidly made, not skimped in the least, handsome colors, belted, ruffled bottoms, turndown collars, with feather stitched braid, Bishop sleeve. Sacques that are cheap anywhere for 50c. To keep busy, we shall give them away at, apiece, 25c.

Extra Sleeves for Shirt Waists.

Pretty Lawns, trimmed with 9 rows Val. lace, the very latest from New York, to be worn with the newest shirt waists.
You will want one, so we have marked them at a price that will help you get one, 39c., 50c., 87c.

Glove Tops.
Spring's Newest Fashion.
Black and white silk. Just the thing for the new Shirt Waist. We have a splendid assortment of them, and they are very inexpensive, a pair, 50c.

We can't help mentioning our new Silk Gloves in the extra lengths. Black, white, pink, light blue, champagne and lavender. Suedes in plum, navy blue, red and grey. A line of Gloves far ahead of the ordinary.
